Blackguardly Assaults On Defenceless

LONDON: Nov. 11.

The "Times" commenting on the German anti-Jewish demonstrations states that no foreign propagandist bent on blackening Germany before the world, could outdo the tale of burnings and beatings, of blackguardly assaults on defenceless and innocent people, which disgraced that country yesterday.

FEROCIOUS REVENGE

The "Daily Telegraph" in a leader, headed: "A Ferocious Revenge," states that Germany delivered herself over to an orgy of savagery, which will send a thrill of horror throughout the civilized world..... Nazi revenge has been one of the most terrible things of the present Century.

Terrible Reprisals

PARIS:—"The whole world is astonished and indignant that in the country, civilised as Germany, a crime on a single individual, can provoke such terrible reprisals, says "L' Ordre." The world will one day rise against the Fuehrer and constrain him to respect civilisation, of which Germany was only recently justly proud of.

NEW YORK:—"Thus does a great Government take revenge for the act of a maddened boy, a Government which boasts of the order it maintains and aspires to be head over all Central Europe," says the "New York Times." The Western Powers recently acquiesced in bloodless victories as a prelude to European appeasement. They were prelude to scenes on which no man can look without shame for the degradation of his species.

Question Of Benes' Successor: Slovak Party's Threat Of Withdrawal

PRAGUE, Nov. 11.

A political crisis threatens in Czechoslovakia over the issues of the election of a new President to succeed Dr. Benes and the Slovak Party's demand for Autonomy in their region.

Among the candidates for Presidency, M. Chwalkovsky, the present Foreign Minister stands the biggest chance of success, but strong opposition to him is being offered by Left-Wingers who are endeavouring to maintain the present Government and would like to postpone the Presidential election indefinitely.

The Slovaks are accusing Prague of avoiding the issue of autonomy promised on October 8. They insist that Parliament which meets on November 17 should deal with the matter. Otherwise, they threaten to withdraw and to take no further interest in Prague and manage their own affairs.—Reuter.

"LEADS TO MORAL DEGRADATION"

M. L. A.s' Rally Against Birth-Control

Revenue Minister's Case For Self-Control Finds Over-Whelming Support

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT).

POONA: November 11.

"WHICH IS BETTER—BIRTH-CONTROL OR SELF-CONTROL"—was the subject which figured prominently in the Bombay Legislative Assembly when Mr. P. J. Roham's resolution about Birth-control, which was ultimately rejected by an overwhelming majority, was under consideration.

While a section of Opposition members, including Messrs. Jamnadas Mehta, B. K. Gaikwad, Jhabvala and Bhole favoured birth-control, the Revenue Minister, Mr. Morarji Desai made out a strong case for self-control, his contention against birth-control being that IT WOULD END IN LAPSES AND MORAL DEGRADATION.

The Hon. Dr. Gilder said that contrary to belief, production was mounting faster than population, and that, therefore, there was no cause for alarm.

Mrs. Tyabji's resolution about amending the Nurses and Midwives Act, was accepted by the Government.

PROCEEDINGS IN DETAIL

After question time to-day the Assembly then took up consideration of Mr. P. J. Rohanis' resolution moved by him yesterday about propaganda in favour of birth control.

Mr. S. H. Jhabwala supported the resolution with a view to better the organisation of family units and limiting them on the basis of economic plan.

Mr. Jamnadas Mehta further supported the resolution. Continence or celibacy, he said, was an ideal but it was not practicable to all. He referred to the article written by Mrs. Sarojini Mehta, M. A. Gujrati scholar in which she had given a crushing reply to the advocates of Bramhacharya.

Continuing Mr. Jamnadas said that if celibacy could be useful, it was well and good, but for those who could not observe the same birth-control by appliances was the only way out. He therefore exhorted Government to assist financially all private efforts made in furtherance of birth-control propaganda and insisted that Government should maintain as Government institutions, birth-control clinics at Bombay, Ahmedabad, Poona and Belgaum.

MUSLIM VIEWPOINT

Mr. Ali Bahadur Khan opposing the resolution said that the public were opposed to the interference by Government in these matters. Catholics as also a large section of Hindus were against birth-control and as for Muslims. Prophet Mahomed had ordained in favour of multiplication.

Mr. Saklatvala opposing the resolution said that the question was being discussed year after year and if Malthusian theory was to be taken to be correct, he did not know what the world would be having to eat to-day. His opinion was that birth control might be alright with countries which have good physics and education but not in a country like India. Besides, in Western countries spirituality was receding in the background.

The Hon. Mr. Morarji Desai, Revenue Minister said that Government were not reluctant to agree to any measure which they were convinced of its soundness, even if the opposition to it was strong as was noticed in the case of the Industrial Disputes Bill. Contraceptive measures were suggested by men, not women. As soon as the line of least resistance was taken away in any matter, it was natural that people went down and lapsed into a

GOEBBELS DENIES LOOTING

But Seeks To Justify Defence Measures Against Jewish Parasites'

BERLIN, Nov. 11.

Dr. Goebbels informed the Foreign Press that measures must be taken against the Jews but only of a legal character. He emphatically denied that the outburst was organised and declared, "I could not tell the policemen to shoot at Germans, who committed an assault because I inwardly sympathised with them."

He denied looting, though it was "quite possible that some old woman took a coat to give her daughter for Christmas".

He insisted that the outbreak was spontaneous. He admitted that some Jews were bodily harmed and added, "I am not so stupid as to export national-socialism to England and France whose democracies weaken them. It is good for a nation to be able to defend itself against Jewish parasites. I am prepared to give all our Jews to any nation which has not enough of its own."—Reuter.

SARDAR EXPOSES ZEMINDARS' TACTICS

Sardar Patel in the course of a statement on the breakdown of negotiations between the U. P. Zemindars and the Congress Parliamentary Board says, "Some of the Zemindars, after the agreement arrived at, started agitation against the proposed arbitration and openly questioned the motive of the Parliamentary Sub-Committee. They allege that the name of the Parliamentary Committee was brought into play the game of the U. P. Ministry, namely, to pull out the chestnuts from the fire for the Government."—A.P.

World Of Sport: Home And Abroad

Poor Show By Gujarat And Maharashtra In Ranji Trophy

(BY "LOOKER ON.")

The final stage in the West Zone of the Inter-Provincial Cricket Championship has been practically reached now. Sind has already entered the ultimate round by conquering Bombay. And by the time these notes appear in print, Nawanagar will have vanquished the Western India States and qualified to meet Sind in the final. Nawanagar is only 42 runs behind their opponents with 6 wickets in hand and unless something most unusual happens they are sure to emerge victorious. If the final match is played at Karachi which is very likely owing to Sind's earnest desire to stage it there, it is sure to produce interesting results. On their own ground the, Sindhis may be depended upon to put up a courageous fight against their formidable rivals.

REAMALGAMATION ADVISABLE.

The matches in the West Zone have clearly demonstrated the fact that it is a mistake to have too many associations in the same area. Gujarat failed to produce a side worthy of the National Championship and they were badly mauled by Nawanagar. If Baroda had not separated from this body, they would have been in a stronger position to-day.

Maharashtra suffered a rather ignominious defeat at the hands of the Western India States. It is probable that the matting wicket of Rajkot caused their discomfiture to a certain extent. Still there is no gainsaying the fact that Maharashtra is now having a decidedly lean time in cricket. Nobody has yet appeared on their horizon to take the places of such giants as Prof. Deodhar, S. M. Joshi, Yusuf Begg, J. G. Navle and others who dominated the cricket field of Western India for many a year. To my mind it would have been in the interest of Maharashtra to remain under the wings of Bombay for a few years more till they were in a position to stand on their own legs.

Even now it is not too late to make some amalgamations with a view to strengthening the foundations of some of these weak associations.

BOMBAY HOCKEY STARTS.

While we are in the thick of cricket hockey seems to a far cry. But apparently the ruling body of hockey in Bombay, the B.P.H.A., does not seem to think so. They have already planned their activities for the ensuing season and their League matches will start from to-day. They have eight teams in the First Division of of the League and they are the Customs, Lusitanians, Young Sports, Armed Police, G.I.P. Railways, Bombay Telephone, St. Xavier's College, and "Times of India." And the Second Division has been divided into three sections of 9 teams each. There is no doubt the Association ground will see some interesting battles during the season.

A VALUABLE GUIDE.

The Umpires Committee of the B.P.H.A. may be congratulated on their enterprise in publishing on Umpire's Chart on the lines of the Football Referees Chart. It is an excellent guide for everybody concerned with the game, namely Umpires Players Club, Secretaries and even spectators. It is not unoften that ignorance of the Laws of the Game leads to unpleasantness among the various parties mentioned above. If they make it a point to possess one of these valuable charts and obey its instructions carefully there will be little trouble hereafter. I notice that the Chart was based on the Rules of 1936. Since then the International Hockey Board has made the following important changes in them:—

"That no hooking or interference with an opponent's stick is permissible."

"That the use of the foot to stop the ball by a player other than the goalkeeper is not permissible."

The Umpires Board of the B.P.H.A. will have to bring their chart uptodate in these respects.

NORTH BOMBAY ZONAL GAMES.

The North Bombay Zonal Meet of the B.P.O.A. will be held at the St. Xavier's Ground at Parel on November 19 and 20. It is open to all men and women, boys and girls who reside North of Parel within the City limits. Although the entries from some of the Schools and private clubs in that area are encouraging it appears that the College students of the locality—there are three Colleges in it—have not yet shown any interest in the Event. That is a pity! It is mainly for their benefit these Zonal meets have been arranged and if they do not show sufficient enthusiasm for them, I am afraid they will be scrapped. At any rate the North Zone Games are in that danger. I hope the student community of Dadar and Matunga, like all the other athletes, will rise to the occasion and help to make the meet a resounding success. Entries close on Wednesday next.

HUBLI MUNICIPAL SQUABBLE

Dr. Hardikar To Reply To Allegations

(From Our Correspondent).

HUBLI, Nov. 9.

The explanations submitted by the Hubli Municipal Borough to the Government's Charge Sheet are now printed in a book form and published by Sardar M. A. Savanur They cover 120 pages including the covering letter of the President addressed to the Government. In the course of that letter, the Sardar has made several allegations against Dr. Hardikar and his colleagues and also against the Government. Dr. Hardikar is dealing with those allegations in detail in the local Press with the announced intention that the public may not be misled by the unjust and unwarranted aspersions cast against him and others by the Sardar. The Sardar has gone to Poona and it is said that he has carried with him about 200 copies of the explanations with the intention of distributing them among the members of the legislatures and Government officials.

SUCCESSFUL SECOND "DRY" DAY IN CITY

Friday was the second of the two "Dry" days of the month.

The Excise authorities made elaborate arrangements to ensure the success of the experiment.

The entire staff of the Bombay City Excise Police—inspectors, sub-inspectors, and the lower ranks—was requisitioned on special duty.

A close watch was kept over every Railway station to prevent smuggling. Every strategic point in the City had an Excise official. All bars, liquor shops, and restaurants which cater alcoholic drinks remained closed.

Several people called at Railway restaurants, but had to go back disappointed as only "bona fide" long-distance passengers were served with "hot" drinks.

The Taj, Green's and other Society restaurants looked unusually dull.

SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT.

Though there was an exodus of addicts to the suburbs, the extreme vigilance of the Excise staff was responsible for the success of the fourth series of "Dry" since the inauguration of the scheme.

TALK OF THE SUBURBS

(BY A SUBURBAN MAN.)

Yesterday the Suburban Poppy Fund Committee strived hard in their annual collection for the Ex-service men. The collection were well organised and every lane by-way and high-road were thronged with poppy sellers. Near Railway Stations and Bus halts poppy sellers stood in large numbers and every individual making for the city was tackled.

In some parts of the suburbs three were sellers with the Tricolour Flower which is the collection being made by the Bombay Congress Socialist Party as a help to victims of non-violent war, which incidentally was well supported by the suburbanites

CIRCLE INSPECTOR TRANSFERRED.

Mr. A. W. Thornber, Circle Inspector, Bombay Suburban District, has been transferred to Sholapur. He was a popular officer and the news of his transfer has been received with widespread regret. He is being praised highly for the good service rendered by him.

Mr. Thornber leaves for Sholapur, on November 12, where he will act as City Inspector. In his place comes Mr. A. J. Hanney, a well experienced Inspector from Nasik. The whole suburban police force I understand are to give him a private sendoff party before his departure. Mr. Thornber, was a great friend of the press and was never tired to furnishing them with anv information they wanted

Mr. J. M. J. Turk writes:—

On behalf of my nation and the Muslim world on the whole, I express my thanks to my Indian leaders, who very generously expressed their deepest sympathies towards the passing of the great Turkish Hero. The passing of the greatest National Hero is a great loss not only to my nation alone but to the Muslim World at large.

BIG ELECTION DRIVE

Congress Manifesto In The Making

Since the selection of the official Congress candidates for the ensuing Municipal elections, the various Committees set up by the Congress in the City are getting busy and every day one Committee or other is meeting at the Congress House.

CANDIDATES MEET

On Sunday last a preliminary meeting of the candidates put up by the Congress was held with Sjt. Nagindas T. Master, in the Chair. Discussion centred round the question of distribution of votes among Congress candidates in constituencies where an equal division was not possible. The consensus of opinion was that individual canvassing should be prohibited and that no communal class or caste considerations should be introduced while canvassing votes. Those present were of the opinion that territorial distribution of surplus votes, that is votes left out after casting one to each of the candidates, would be the best method to ensure the victory of all the candidates in a constituency.

The meeting was also of the opinion that to carry on an effective city-wide election campaign, various Constituency Committees, with a central co-ordinating office at the Congress House, should be immediately set up.

DRAFTING OF MANIFESTO

The Manifesto Sub-Committee of the Municipal Election Committee met on Monday at the Congress House. The meeting discussed the points and programme and entrusted the work of drafting the Manifesto to Sjt. Mathooradas Tricumjee, the Chairman of the Committee.

Since Tuesday last, candidates of different Constituencies, are daily meeting at the Congress House.

A novel suggestion is made to take out gramophone records of the Congress Municipal Manifesto and Message and distribute them to all the eating houses and cinemas in the city to appeal to the voters to solidly support the Congress candidates. A meeting of the Publicity Committee has been called for Sunday the 13th instant.

Plans For Courtesy Week In City

The Safety First Association of India held a Press Conference at their premises on Friday afternoon to devise plans to carry out the "Courtesy Week," which is to be held shortly.

A large gathering of Press representatives was present and discussed the various plans to be adopted.

It is expected that with the co-operation of the public the 'Courtesy Week' which will be a novel introduction in the City, is bound to be a great success.

RAJKOT'S LEAD

It is necessary for the whole country to watch with sympathy the dramatic developments in the State of Rajkot. It appears that what Bardoli, under Gandhiji's guidance, did a few years ago for the Indian provinces Rajkot, the birth-place of Gandhiji, is doing to-day for the Indian States. Several States have doubtless anticipated Rajkot in carrying on intensive agitation for constitutional reforms. But there are some peculiar features in the struggle in Rajkot which make it one of outstanding importance. In the first place all the people of the State, the masses as well as the classes, are united under the lead of the Praja Parishad, women being as much in the forefront here as anywhere else. Secondly, they seem determined to carry on the fight to a finish till the goal of responsible government is reached. Why, with one voice they demand that immediate grant of responsible government, and not merely its recognition as ideal, should be the basis of any negotiations. Above all, the people have been so phenomenally non-violent even under grave and prolonged provocation, that at a public meeting at Rajkot a few days ago a Khudai Khidmatgar said that he had come there all the distance from the Frontier to study the best demonstrations of non-violence and the possibilities of non-violent resistance. Presiding over a huge public meeting in Bombay on Thursday night, Sardar Vallabhbhai stated: "Rajkot is the centre of Kathiawar and the events in Rajkot will have repercussions not only in all the other States of Kathiawar, but they will affect the destiny of the 8 crores of people in the Indian States. The present fight, therefore, will have to be carried on to such an extent and in such a manner that hereafter no ruler shall dare to refuse the unanimous demands of his subjects." There is no exaggeration whatsoever in these observations

Flimsy Reforms

The latest events in the State are of deep political interest. The Thakore Saheb has issued a statement which shows how the negotiations for a settlement broke down. The reforms he offered were flimsy and were properly rejected by the Praja Parishad. The Parishad also insisted that in the settlement of the details of any scheme Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel must be consulted. But the Thakore Saheb states that "the interests and the future administration of the State must be settled between us and our people without the dictation from outside." As a matter of fact the Thakore Saheb was not himself a party to the negotiations. A non-Indian like Sir Patrick Cadell represented him. Why should he object to his people's demand that their representative, an eminent Indian like Sardar Vallabhbhai, must be consulted? However, as the Thakore is not yet prepared to concede responsible government, it is unnecessary at this stage to discuss further the procedure of negotiations.

Ruthless Repression

The negotiations having broken down, the Government have resorted to ruthless repression. Lathi charges by the police have become the order of the day and in consequence more than a hundred persons have been severely wounded. Not even women have been spared. Among the wounded women is the wife of Mr. Chaganlal Joshi, Secretary of Mahatma Gandhi. She received injuries to her head and bled profusely. The daughter of Mr. Vajubhai Shukla, the second Dictator, who has been undergoing imprisonment since the beginning of the movement, is also a victim of the lathi charge. The number of arrests has so far reached 157, but more persons are seeking arrest both as Dictators or volunteers of the Parishad. Meanwhile a most severe boycott of the Durbargarh is being carried on by the people. The Thakore's statement itself admits that the boycott movement is spreading and is very effective. We have not the least doubt that, if the people continue to be absolutely non-violent in their resistance, they will, in Sardar Vallabhbhai's words, win and Rajkot will be an example to all other Indian States.

A Worthy Successor

Turkey has chosen her new President. And she could not, we believe, have chosen a better successor to Ataturk than General Ismet Ineunu. Indeed it would be no exaggeration to say that Ismet has almost automatically selected himself for the high post. A companion and comrade of Mustafa Kemal even in the days of the Sultanate he alone can claim to have been the right hand man of the Chief throughout the last twenty years. As a General of "rebel" Turkey he distinguished himself by his work and can claim to have laid the foundation of the final victory in consequence of which the Greeks were driven into the sea and the allied prestige was humbled. He repeated this latter achievement at the conference Table in Lausanne to the chagrin of Poincare, Curzon and Mussolini. At Lausanne he added a unique Turkish chapter to the history of international diplomacy. Competent and clever, determined and defiant he met and worsted Allied statesmen as they were never worsted before and brought back a historic triumph for his country. Then, like Mustafa Kemal, the General and Diplomat turned into a civilian constructive statesmen of the highest order as Prime Minister of the new Turkey which post he relinquished only some months back. As friend and Prime Minister he was associated with Ataturk's reforms in every stage from conception to consolidation and so intimately that he can claim to share them with his great Chief. He thus both knew the mind of the architect and partnered him in the actual creation of the architecture. Who could be more qualified to take safe charge of it?

What Next?

Used to Mr. Chamberlain's international ways and his insistence on calling Fascist swords as ploughshares of peace no one will be surprised at his speech delivered at the Guildhall Banquet or at the defence of his foreign policy attempted by Mr. R. A. Butler in the House of Commons. The same blatant untruth was harped upon: that Munich was the result of Four-Power consultation, that they sat down and agreed, without quarrelling, upon the main outlines of the settlement and that there was no question of any party triumphing over another. It is such an obviously hypocritical claim that even some of Mr. Chamberlain's own supporters have not been able to swallow it. Munich was a surrender to force—Mr. Chamberlain's self-gratified defence only makes it a wilful surrender As General Weygaud, one of the most eminent and statesmanlike of French military leaders, says, it amounted to a lowering of the flag before German strength. Mr. Chamberlain, however, is so proud of the Munich principle and method that he is determined to follow both in the future. Herein lies the danger. He is out to achieve more wilful surrenders, of course, as a result of a consultation and agreement without quarrelling. And in this connection his refusal to say anything definite as regard the colonies is significant.

KEMAL

The Father Of The Turks

By D. F. Karaka

One of the great figures that have come to world fame after the war was the man who can be regarded as the creator of Modern Turkey. The news of his death at the early age of fifty-seven will be received all over the world with deep sorrow for he was a steadying influence over that part of Europe which has been the scene of so much conflagration in the past.

World peace cannot afford to lose the Kemal, at a time when the shadow of war has darkened the landscape of Europe. Let us, therefore, pause for a moment to appreciate what this one-time corporal, the son of a minor Customs official, did for a people that were wandering aimlessly after the Great War.

An Outstanding Figure

A long time ago he was known only as Mustafa. Later came the addition of "Kemal", then "Kemal Pasha," then "Ghazi Mustafa Kemal Pasha", then "Ghazi Mustafa Kemal" and, finally as the "Kemal Ataturk". By whatever name he was known, he was always the Great Turk. As such his country will remember him, for he is the one outstanding figure that has dominated the destiny of Modern Turkey as no else has done.

They will remember him as the man who abolished all the outward ceremonial of Islam, retaining that something deep and fundamental which will outlive what he has destroyed. He was the man who discarded the fez tore asunder the veil, shaved off the beard, and brought the western outlook to bear on all forms of Turkish life. He preferred that his Court should look like that of St. Jame's than that of the Kalifs that had preceded him. And when he said the Fez must go, he meant it, for he has been known to have slapped the Egyptian minister who arrived at his court wearing what was no longer the national cap of the Turkish people.

Modernisation

Yet his little fads were not like those of the other dictators calculated to harm other people. He did not persecute those who did not adapt themselves easily to his new way of living. If he discarded the priests, he also burnt the books of magic which went with them. If he abolished the purdah, it was to emancipate the women of his country and to make them play a more important part in the civic life of Turkey than they were under strict Islam ever destined to play. Perhaps, it is truer to say that he took the old building of Islam and without demolishing the structure from its foundations, re-decorated and re-modelled it to suit the requirements of a new civilisation and a new generation which was to be housed in it.

There was in him as in all dictators an unconscious and unintentional instinct of revenge against an unjust world. Like them he was born of poor parents. Like them, too, he had seen the great majority of innocent people suffer at the hands of a handful of the rich. Like Pilsudski, like Hitler, like Masaryk, like Mussolini, his early life was more under his mother's influence than that of his father. It ha been said of him that "his merciless campaign against the Greeks was subconsciously motivated by his mother's experiences in a refugee camp in Salonika during the Balkan wars."

A Man of Action

Yet, unlike the others, he was shy, retired and inaccessible. He did not like to flaunt his name across the papers of his country. He preferred to live in the seclusion which he had built around him, when on his farm one saw him plough the fields and do that manual work which is done by the poorest of the poor. It kept him healthy in body and mind and a model for others to copy. He was a man of action, worthy of emulation. He was a soldier, rough-cut and hard, but still gallant and courteous. He married once, but not for long. He preferred the company of his soldier friends with whom he would play poker, only to return the money if he won.

That was the man as few knew him. To the outside world, he stood for a new form of energy which he had generated into the Turkish people. He stood for a

SALUTE TO THE ATATURK

Real Personality Of The Maker Of Modern Turkey

(By "Observateur")

Although the tragic death of Kemal, the Ataturk, the President and Maker of Modern Turkey, cannot be regarded as an international disaster, it certainly assumes the significance of an event of first-class international significance and, for his country, of a great and irretrievable loss.

It is quite natural to speculate in the first shock of the news of this man's death, whether the Turkey he had built up practically piece by piece with the strength of his heroic personality could continue to occupy the position she has done under the guidance of one who is universally acknowledged as one of the greatest world statesmen; whether, once the strong-man was removed out of the political scene, the forces of disruption that he had successfully fought throughout his career as a soldier and man of action, would not be released and threaten to undo some of the things that constitute his greatest achievement in the renaissance of Turkey. But there seems no justification for entertaining such fears because, although the Ataturk had long retreated out of the newspaper publicity, for some years now, he had been spared years of quiet work certainly not quite spectacular, which, judging by its effect on the Turkish affairs and the marked progress the nation made, ought to go a long way in averting the usual fate of a country that suddenly loses its helmsman and flounders in consequence of it.

New Turkey

We must try to understand the character of the Ataturk's leadership which is unjustly compared with that of the fashionable European dictators. His regime may have been dictatorial and certainly was not above criticism in many things. But the quality of his greatness was not only of a different order, it was, and will always be regarded in modern history as unique. No comparison can, therefore, be attempted between the personality of this man who was a saviour of his unfortunate country and built a great deal more than he destroyed—if he ever can be said to have destroyed anything at all—and the tyrants who maintain their power with the use of brutal violence and fear. His leadership also is of a special category:—it represents the will and aspirations of a young Turkey that existed even before the crash came of the Sultanate over the ruins of which he built, certainly with the help of the forces that discovered in him a skilled and highly capable leader. His role, then, was that of a man who worked for and gave a concrete shape to the aspirations of a nation that was regarded as feeble, decadent and seething in the corruption of an empire in which the process of disintegration had been active for a long time. Stigmatized as the "Sick Man of Asia," Turkey, under the leadership of this man, refused to be condemned to a life-long invalidism and to the surprised consternation of both the consulting and prescriptive physicians, showed a stubborn will-to-live. The sick, old man, in fact, positively scandalized the philosophical scientists by wanting not only to recoup his health but to live the life of active and energetic health.

His Leadership

The Ataturk came on the Turkish scene as a young and brilliant military leader who distinguished himself during the Turko-Greek operations. His military career had undoubtedly been the most remarkable, but could hardly have sufficed for the task he felt called upon to undertake in emancipating his country from the effects of the Empire's misrule and incompetence. His military ability was supported in an equally extraordinary measure, by his political sense and his gifts of statesmanship. Trained during the years of struggle in which he faced great difficulties in adjusting Turkey's relations with the European Powers, he steered the course of his country clear of the dangers that threatened her. His military successes are equalled and even excelled by those he achieved in the political and diplomatic field, and it is these, one feels, that have laid the foundations of the Turkish policy—a policy his successors can easily pursue in order to maintain the position Turkey occupied under the Ataturk's regime.

Turkish Policy

As a Mediterranean Power, Turkey has regained a new and influential position. In a world of international aggression and conflict, Turkey to-day presents the exception of a country that has successfully maintained friendly relations with practically all her neighbours. Is this possible in a dictatorship country? While maintaining Turkish independence and power to resist aggression, the Ataturk had pursued the path of conciliation consistently with the best national interests. He got the provisions of the Treaty of Sevres revised without illegal repudiation and has earned the esteem of all nations for the methods employed in stabilising the

FRANKLY SPEAKING

A DESERVED AWARD

The award of this year's Nobel Prize for Literature to Miss Pearl Buck, the eminent American author, will be universally appreciated. Though she belongs to the New World, it is the old world which is the main theme of Miss Buck's works. She spent a number of years in China as a Professor in the University of Nanking and she utilised her intimate knowledge of Chinese life in numerous novels of which the "Good Earth" is the most famous thanks to its screen version. "If you want to know the Chinese, read the American Pearl Buck" has long been a famous saying. And no author can hope for a better tribute. In interpreting the East to the West, Miss Buck has proved that literature can serve as a great international bond. Her numerous admirers will feel personally happy to-day by the very deserved honour paid to her.

"CIVILISED" SAVAGERY

The outburst of anti-Jewish fury in Germany provoked by the death of Herr von Rath brings into prominent relief not only the racial brutality practised by Nazis but also the question whether they have any title to be regarded as "civilised" at all. The only remaining synagogue in Munich, seven in Berlin and all but one in Vienna have been set fire to. Jewish shops and property have been wrecked in Berlin and elsewhere and in Vienna alone 5,000 Jews have been arrested. On top of it all there is the announcement by Dr. Goebbels' paper that "every single Jew will have to answer for the murder of Herr Von Rath. Jews will have to pay without mercy." The murderer of Herr Von Rath had at least the undeniable excuse that his nerves snapped under the prolonged agony and torments which his kith and kin including his parents had been suffering. His was a protest, however undesirable. The Nazi reply is an intensification of the brutal torments on a whole people. Even primitive savages have a better and more civilised sense of proportion.

ARABS' WARNING

As was only to be expected the Arabs have rejected the British offer of a conference under impossible terms. As the leader of the world Muslim delegation now in London told our correspondent, the Arabs would negotiate with Britain only after the latter had accepted the following fundamental conditions:—

Immediate stoppage of immigration of Jews.

Immediate declaration of general amnesty to Palestine Arabs.

Invitation to Palestine Arab leaders to the conference at which Arabs should enter into a treaty of friendship and alliance with Britain to replace the present mandate.

The British Government, on the other hand, thought fit to issue what amounts to a challenge. And the Arabs have not been slow in taking it up as the manifesto of the Palestine Committee of Defence at Damascus shows. Unless Mr. MacDonald and his colleagues become sensible, their new move will have only served to aggravate the present trouble both in extent and in degree.

GOVT. AND MUSLIM AUQAF.

The Muslim Women's Education Committee recently formed under the chairmanship of Mrs. Faiz B. Tyabji has begun its work admirably. We published the other day an account of its activities one of the most important of which is a representation to the Bombay Government in connection with the working of the Musalman Waqf Act. We most strongly endorse the suggestions made by the Committee and we cannot too strongly emphasize that to neglect this question of better and more effective administration of Auqaf is to neglect an important public duty which a popular Government and the Muslim community cannot afford to do. Meanwhile we congratulate Mrs. Faiz B. Tyabji and her committee on the good work that they are doing. Efforts to ensure the administration of Auqaf in the public interest constitute an invaluable service to the Muslim community.

THE RIGHT WAY

Mr. L. M. Shrikant's resolution in the Bombay Legislative Assembly condemning the policy of excluding certain areas wholly or partially from the control of the popular Cabinet had no difficulty in being carried unanimously. It is outrageous to suggest that a constitutionally irresponsible Governor, almost certainly a non-Indian, can better administer these areas than a responsible Indian Cabinet can. But a mere resolution asking for a change in the Constitution can hardly serve the purpose desired. It need not have been considered at all. It is better for the Congress to serve and organise these areas as well as the rest of the country and expedite the process of wrecking the imposed constitution.

HINDUSTANI IN SCHOOLS

Addressing a teachers' meeting, at Bangalore, Mr. S. H. Thompson, Inspector of Schools in the Civil and Military station, observed: "Khadi and Hindi provide the atmosphere of nationalism; they are what incense is to worship." Mr. Thompson evidently meant Hindustani, but Khadi and Hindustani are not merely a part of a national ritual, they are among the essentials of nationalism. Pointing out how in Malta children were taught four languages, English, French, Italian and Maltese, Mr. Thompson said that Hindustani could be made a third language in Indian schools without in any way harming the students. Speaking more accurately, Hindustani is a second and not a third language, second in importance only to the mother-tongue. English should be a compulsory third language for all those who wish to take a secondary course.

A prominent Indian Muslim told our London correspondent that "Mr. Malcolm MacDonald was demonstrating himself as a worthy son of a worthy father who believed more in conferences and less in action."

He is proving himself more than that. For he believes in actions too as witness what is happening in Palestine.

Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, complained the same leader, has begun talking in the air.

And also it should, let us hope and pray, inspire those who don't stand for the liberty of their country to do so. Amen.

In reply to criticisms of his assurances of support to Britain in the event of war, Sir Sikandar Hayat is reported to have announced his willingness to resign on that issue and seek re-election.

Good. But for the sake of Mr. Jinnah he mustn't.

A Great Joke.

Yesterday was celebrated, throughout allied countries, as Armistice Day which brought to a conclusion the war which was fought by Britain, France etc. to make the world safe for Democracy.

It is understood that Mr. Chamberlain and Halifax in London and Mm. Daladier and Bonnet took a prominent part in this celebration.

The Premier in his Guildhall speech, interpreted the demonstration as expressing the spirit of England.

Exactly, exactly.

We have already told you, haven't we, something about the Guildhall banquet and the banqueters.

"I want this Government to be a go-getter of peace" said Mr. Neville Chamberlain.

Wasn't he really thinking of another word for "go-getter"?

Mr. Neville Chamberlain then declared that "it was the man who was conscious of his own weakness who could least afford to be generous because he always recoiled from yielding to the claims of justice lest his action should be attributed to his fears of the consequences of resistance."

How nice! You now know how and why Mr. Chamberlain powerfully and fearlessly—and altruistically—yielded Austria and Czecho-Slovakia to Germany, Abyssinia and Spain to Italy and Manchukuo and a lot more of China to Japan.

By the way, you also now know why Mr. Neville Chamberlain and his Government are overwhelming the Palestine Arabs with justice and generosity in the shape of bayonets, tanks, aeroplanes, Tegart Walls etc. etc.

Arabs Reject Woodhead Report

Will Not Surrender An Inch Of Territory: Warning To Britain

BEIRUT, Nov. 11.

The threat of a general insurrection among the Arab peoples, if Britain persists in the attitude on the Palestine question set forth in the Woodhead Report, is contained in a manifesto addressed to the British Government by the Palestine Committee of Defence at Damascus.

The Manifesto states that the Arabs cannot ever accept a decision which deprives them of an inch of their territory. It adds that Palestine question can only be settled between the Arabs and Britain, and neither Jews nor the League of Nations is qualified to interfere. —Reuter.

British Jews Plead For Broad Vision

LONDON, Nov. 10.

"The Jewish Chronicle", the leading organ of British Jews, describes the Government's proposal to invite Arab States to join the Palestine discussions as "an act of high statesmanship". It speaks of the hasty pronouncement of the Jewish Agency with its premature criticism. It urges the Zionist leaders to have vision and a wide political outlook and not content themselves with a negative stubborn clinging to Jewish rights but adopt constructive and statesmanlike proposals, which would reveal the compatibility of fully implementy those rights with highest interests for the security of Arab fellow citizens.—Reuter.

Legalising Racialism

No Room For Jews In New Fascist Code

ROME, Nov. 10.

Racialism is recognised as a legal principle in the new Italian Civil Code, the first volume of which has been approved by the Cabinet.

Another feature is the legalising of the fascist principles. Thus it is an offence if parents do not bring up their children on the fascist line.

Various previous anti-Jewish measures are embodied in the Code. While foreign Jews will be entirely excluded Italian Jews will be unable to continue in service in the State or Municipal organisation or bank of insurance company of importance.

Rights regarding the owning shares, land and buildings have been drastically curtailed and the education of Jews has been segregated. The numbers of Jewish families affected is about 11,500.—Reuter.

POONA, Nov. 11.

Leave was refused in the Bombay Legislative Assembly to-day to the adjournment motion sought to be moved about the police firings and lathi charges in Bombay on strikers participating in one-day general strike protest against the Trade Disputes Bill on Monday last, as only 19 members rose in their seats to support it whereas the least number required is 36.

Mr. K. M. He thought that it would be unadvisable, therefore, to discuss that matter in form of adjournment motion in House.

RAJKOT HONOURS KEMAL'S MEMORY

(From Our Correspondent.)

RAJKOT, Nov. 11.

In an atmosphere surcharged with extreme political excitement, the news of the sad death of Kemal Ataturk came as an electric shock. Hindus and Muslims vied with one another in honouring the great leader of men who made a helpless country a powerful nation. A complete hartal was observed.

In the evening a public meeting was held at the Sadar Bazar by the Muslims at which Glowing tributes were paid to the memory of Kemal Ataturk.

Bombay's Homage To Father Of Turks

KEMAL TURNED "SICK MAN OF EUROPE" INTO A POWER TO BE RESPECTED

Glowing tributes were paid to the memory of Mustafa Kemal Pasha at the public meeting held under the auspices of the Bombay Provincial Congress Committee on Friday night, in celebration of the "Anti-War Day."

THE MIRACLE WROUGHT BY THE ATATURK IN CHANGING THE "SICK MAN OF EUROPE" INTO ONE OF THE MOST POWERFUL AND RESPECTED NATIONS OF THE WORLD WAS VIVIDLY RECALLED AND A RESOLUTION CONDOLING HIS DEATH WAS PASSED, ALL STANDING.

HIS HISTORIC ACHIEVEMENTS

Mr. S. A. Brelvi moved the following resolution regarding the demise of Kemal Ataturk:

"This public meeting of the citizens of Bombay called under the auspices of the B.P.C.C. expresses its profound sorrow at the death of Kemal Ataturk, the maker of Modern Turkey, and records its sense of appreciation of his historic achievements in liberating his country and reorganising and revitalising the Turkish Nation and making a progressive and powerful Turkey which is an example to other countries. The meeting tenders its heart-felt sympathy to the Turkish nation in its great loss."

In moving the resolution Mr. Brelvi said that the death of Kemal was being mourned not only by Asia, but the whole world. Subhas Babu in his statement had pointed out how Kemal's death could not but move the world and he had drawn attention to his achievements. Such figures came on the stage of history only once in centuries.

Not only had Kemal won freedom for his motherland, but he had so organised Turkey that it had become an equal of the great European Nations. Her example showed that, however, weak a nation might be she was sure to win through her difficulties if only she was self-reliant.

GREAT WAR AND AFTER

Mr. Brelvi gave an account of the history of the Ottoman Empire before the Great War and said that the Young Turks desired the establishment of a Constitutional Monarchy and the Parliamentary system. To achieve that end they had started the Committee of Union and Progress. He referred to the alliance of Turkey with Germany in the Great War which ended in the defeat of Germany. After the Great War the Allies wanted to divide the Ottoman Empire and to annihilate Turkey. Unfortunately just at that time, Turkey was ruled by a weak Khalifa who played into the hands of the enemies of Turkey.

It was at this juncture that Kemal gathered the national forces and resolved that Turkey would remain a free and independent country whatever the sacrifices they had to make. He waged war against the forces of Greece which was supported by the Allies and in about two years' time he had driven the Greeks from Turkish soil.

Kemal, however, was not satisfied with scoring a victory over the Nation's enemies. He brought about a revolution in the land which made her a nation respected all the world over. Having at his disposal resources far shorter of what was available to other dictators like Hitler and Mussolini Kemal re-created a new Turkey which no longer remained "the Sick Man of Europe."

Mr. Brelvi then referred to the lessons India could derive from the Turkish Revolution. Kemal had demonstrated that those who loved their country and desired freedom should be prepared to suffer on that account. He had also shown that unless the women were freed from their thraldom and were given an equal status with men there could be neither freedom nor progress.

Kemal had shown that those who desired freedom could not afford to live a life of comfort and ease, but should for ever be striving to reach their goal. Lastly he had taught that if they really wanted freedom, words were not enough, action was essential.

KEMAL WILL LIVE

Concluding Mr. Brelvi stated that though Kemal was dead his fame and work would live as long as there were in this world people who loved freedom and fought for it.

Moulvi Mohiuddin Kasuri said that great men like Kemal Ataturk were born to fulfil the divine purposes of God and rouse nations out of their slavery. He also stated that there was greater resemblance between the work of Kemal and Gandhiji than between him and other European dictators like Hitler and Mussolini.

The resolution was seconded by Mr. Hirachand Mehr and was passed. all standng.

The meeting then terminated.

ENTIRE ISLAMIC WORLD PLUNGED INTO GRIEF

Bombay Muslims' Tributes

At a meeting of the Muslims of Bombay held near Mandvi Post Office, Mohommedali Road, Bombay, on Friday night, under the auspices of the Bombay Presidency Muslim League, a resolution expressing their deep sense of sorrow at the death of Kemal Ataturk, the Maker of Modern Turkey, and conveying their deep and sincere sympathies to the Turkish Nation, was passed.

The resolution further stated that his death had plunged the entire Islamic world into grief and deep sorrow and the Muslims in India, particularly. The resolution further referred to the "hartal" observed by the Muslims in Bombay and that all the Muslims offered prayers for deceased's soul.

Mr. M. I. I. Chundrigar, M.L.A., presiding over the meeting outlined the history of Turkey, its peculiar geographical position and described how it was built to the position it now occupied by the courageous efforts of the late Kemal Ataturk.

The speaker narrated the several battles which the late Kemal Pasha gave to his opponents and how he came off with flying colours. He further pointed out that a national pact was signed at Ankara ultimately wherein every Turk pledged to sacrifice his life and property to achieve the national independence of the country.

Other speakers joined in the chorus of tributes

This meeting congratulates Messrs Dhebar, Chimanlal Shah and Chudgar, a member of the Bar, on the part taken by them in the heroic struggle of the people of Rajkot for securing Responsible Government and on their exemplary sacrifice in courting arrest and imprisonment in furtherance of the aforesaid object. The resloution was proposed by Mr. Dolatrai Vakil and was seconded by Mr. Ratilal Maniar. The resolution was further supported by Mr. Hathi. The second resolution read as follows:—

This meeting protests against the promulgation by the District Magistrate of Rajkot of the order under Section 144 Criminal Procedure Code prohibiting public processions etc., although, in the opinion of this meeting, there was no justification for issuing the same as the people of Rajkot have been peaceful and non-violent throughout".

After a vote of thanks the meeting dispersed.

To-day as a mark of protest against the brutal and inhuman lathi charge a complete hartal was observed. Picketing on the Darbargadh continues.

AHMEDABAD TO SEND VOLUNTEERS TO RAJKOT

(From Our Correspondent)

AHMEDABAD, Nov. 11.

The public meeting of the citizens was held last night, which condemned the repressive policy of the Rajkot State and urged the people to help the struggle with men and money Mr Arjun Lala, Secretary, City Congress Committee, presided. It was announced

World Achievement.

The Palace Of The Soviet

Whatever the impartial critic may have to say against the wild scheme the Soviet Government has undertaken, he must at least concede that it is colossal, and that, if carried out to the letter, it will rank as the most amazing building on earth.

In May 1933, after many plans had been dealt with and much work done and eventually scrapped, the Soviet determined to build its Palace (technically the Palace of the Soviets) on the site of St. Saviour's Cathedral in Moscow.

The final plans (if they have not again been changed in the meantime) seem to be for a palace no less than 1,365 feet high (St. Paul's is 365 feet). Upon this immense building, the highest in the world, will stand a statue of Lenin 325 feet high, the arms 100 feet long, the forefinger of the right hand twice the size of a man. The statue will be of rustless metal, but so high in the air will Lenin stand that on an average of 275 days in the year his head will be lost in cloud.

The laying of the foundations of the huge palace was begun in December 1936. Upon these is to be raised a structure of at least 650,000 tons. The foundations consist of two concentric rings of reinforced concrete, the outside diameter being 460 feet. They are 80 feet below the surface.

There is to be a hall seating 20,000 people. The building will require 200,000 tons of steel, of which 100,000 tons will be rustless. There will be 148 lifts and 62 escalators, and a "little" hall seating "only" 5,000 people. The building will be floodlit.

Plea For Balanced Civic Budget

Sabavala's Appeal To Schools Committee To Reduce Their Expenditure

SLUM CLEARANCE PROGRAMME AND MR. ROWJI'S NOTE OF CAUTION

A special meeting of the Standing Committee of the Municipal Corporation was held on Friday afternoon when Mr. A. P. Sabawala, the Chairman, urged his colleagues to make an effort to present to the municipal corporation a balanced budget.

The Schools Committee's budget this year has risen to Rs. 38,50,000 and the Municipal Commissioner has made provision for Rs. 38,50,000. With all his sympathy for the cause of Primary education, Mr. Sabawala urged the Schools Committee to see that every pie is spent to the best advantage of the cause and to enforce economy.

He welcomed the policy of not levying additional taxation and hoped the corporation will take up the slum clearance scheme in right earnest.

DEFICIT BUDGET.

Mr. Sabawala said:

The income for the ensuing year is estimated at Rs. 339.53 lacs and the expenditure at Rs. 352.43 lacs showing a deficit of Rs. 12.90 lacs which is proposed to be met from the Opening Balance of Rs. 24.21 lacs. It is also proposed to appropriate a further sum of Rs. 41,000 from this Balance for purchasing new Plant and Machinery leaving a Closing Balance at the end of the year 1939-40 of Rs. 10.90 lacs.

BACKGROUND.

We shall now have a look at the background. The Opening Balance for the current year was estimated at Rs. 20.01 lacs, Income at Rs. 331.71 lacs and expenditure at Rs. 339.82 lacs. The gap between income and expenditure was to be made good from the Opening Balance and the Closing Balance was estimated at Rs. 11.90 lacs. But, as it usually happens, the working cash balance available at the beginning of the year amounted to Rs. 22.87 lacs showing an improvement of Rs. 2.86 lacs over the budgeted figure. The revised estimates of income and expenditure for the current year on the basis of the working of the first six months are Rs. 341.29 lacs and Rs. 339.75 lacs, respectively.

The gloomy prospect of an anticipated deficit of Rs. 8.11 lacs has thus given way to a happy anticipation of a small surplus of Rs. 1.54 lacs and this in spite of the increased estimate of income adopted by the Standing Committee although the same was objected to by the Executive. The Closing Balance should therefore amount to Rs. 24.41 lacs and allowing for an advance of Rs. 20 lacs for the purchase of Plant and Machinery the working Cash Balance for the ensuing year is expected to be Rs. 24-21 lacs.

SCHOOLS COMMITTEE'S DEMAND.

I should also like to refer here to the demand of Rs. 38.50 lacs made by the Schools Committee under Primary Education and to the provision of Rs. 36.50 lacs made therefore by the Commissioner in the Budget. The Commissioner has explained the reasons for reduction but I should like to invite the pointed attention of the Members of the Committee to this part of our Budget. Unfortunately in the past a certain amount of sentiment has influenced the decisions of the Corporation in this behalf and the Commissioner and the Standing Committee have been mis-interpreted to be opponents of advance, at any rate, for having step-motherly feelings towards such an important nation-building department. I yield to none in my anxiety to promote education among the masses and I have not the slightest hesitation that the Commissioner and the other Members of the Standing Committee share my sentiments. But if progress of primary education is to be secured on right lines it is incumbent on those responsible for the administration thereof to see that not a single pie is mis-spent or rather to see that every pie is spent to the best advantage of the cause.

35 PUPILS PER TEACHER.

I refer to the proportion of pupils to a teacher. The Corporation have laid down and the Schools Committee have also agreed that the ultimate goal should be 40 pupils per teacher. Last year the Schools Committee budgeted at the rate of 32; and the Standing Committee requested them to compromise at 35. The Schools Committee however did not agree as they thought that it was not possible for them immediately to enforce this limit. Surely in the course of the year that has gone by they should have advanced to 35 if not to 40 as was agreed to by themselves.

MR. A. P. SABAVALA

SPECIAL TEACHERS.

Another item is in relation to special teachers. The Schools Committee have resolved that no more special teachers should be employed henceforth. It is therefore clear that special teachers are no longer required or at any rate can be dispensed with. Why do the Committee therefore not try to absorb these teachers in their regular cadre or in the alternative do away with them? Even if the Corporation are not inclined to utilise the savings thus effected for other Municipal services, it must be realised that very large funds are still required for the expansion of Primary Education and that whatever economies are effected, would give us greater strength for undertaking further advances. Again in Municipal service the peon gets Rs. 25th; the Schools Committee have pushed up their grade with a minimum of Rs. 25 and a maximum of Rs. 35. To my mind this is not only unjustifiable but creates unnecessary discord in what ought to be a homogeneous administration. I hope the Schools Committee will see their way to remove this discrepancy.

FOR SLUM CLEARANCE.

Mr. M. I. Rowji who followed Mr. Sabawala struck a note of warning regarding Slum clearance and advised them to go slowly and only demolish those buildings which were dilapidated and on their last legs. He also thought it was time to overhaul the constitution of the Schools Committee and return those councillors who were educationists to that committee.

Mr. V. D. Govindji welcomed the increased expenditure on Primary Education, Public Health and Sanitation and urged the Committee to try to make the budget balanced.

The Committee then adjourned till Monday.

HINDUSTANI FOR BOMBAY

Premier Explains Govt.'s Programme In Assembly

(From Our Special Correspondent)

POONA, Nov. 11.

That Government were considering the introduction of special legislation for the removal of stables in Bombay Suburban developed area beyond Jogeshwari on grounds of Public Health was the reply given by the Hon. Dr. M. D. D. Gilder, Minister of Public Health to question of Mr. S. H. Jhabvala at interpellation time in the Bombay Legislative Assembly to-day.

The Hon. Mr. G. V. Mavlankar, the Speaker was in the Chair.

The same member in another question asked as to how many towns and villages had got ashrams or 'Utaras' where idle and able-bodied sadhus could put up. The Hon. Mr. L. M. Patil, Minister for Local Self-Government, replied that over 1,110 towns and villages had these ashrams and 'utaras'.

Asked if these sadhus were not a burden to the general public, the Minister replied that it was a matter of opinion.

Inquired if Government had considered the advisability of requesting local boards concerned to utilise their services to suitable purposes such as teaching or sweeping villages or grinding corn, the Minister stated that Government did not consider any such action desirable or necessary.

HINDUSTANI NOT YET

Replying to a third question of the same member, about the introduction of Hindustani in the province the Hon. Mr. B. G. Kher, Prime Minister stated that there was no intention at present of making Hindustani as the medium of instruction, unless it happened to be the mother tongue of the pupils under instruction.

Proceeding the Minister referred the member to a Press note issued by the Government in this connection and added that Government had recently passed orders to the effect that the expenditure incurred by Municipal schools which are primarily meant for children whose mother tongue is Hindustani should henceforth be admitted to the Government grant. Government had also issued orders directing that Hindustani either in Devanagari or Urdu script should be recognised as the language of the province of Bombay. Steps that are being taken by Government to spread the study of Hindustani are intended to make it in course of time the language of correspondence between persons whose mother-tongues are different but until that stage is reached, it would be premature to consider the question of adopting Hindustani as the sole language of official correspondence.

A SHORT STORY

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURE

BY RICHARD HILL WILKINSON.

"My goodness," Helen declared, "you'd think we were going to be gone a year on this trip instead of a fortnight. It's silly turning our money into travellers' checks."

"Ha!" Sam retorted. "That's all you know about it. Suppose we were held up and robbed? Suppose we lost our money? Suppose we found ourselves stranded in some jerk town away out in the stick? Then there'd we be?"

"We wouldn't be any better off," Helen said. "if we were robbed or we lost our travellers' checks."

"Don't be ridiculous. Travellers' checks aren't any good except to the person in whose name they are made out. The owner has to sign each one before it's made valid."

"That wouldn't help us any if we didn't have any checks to sign," Helen argued. "Why not save the money it will cost to buy the checks and do something special with it."

But she knew there was no use in further argument. It was Sam's nature to be cautious. Overly cautious. He never took chances. He prepared for every emergency. He looked ahead and made a routine of his life. If anything happened to interrupt that routine he worried and fretted and was unhappy.

Helen was different. Helen liked to splurge. She liked the unexpected. She enjoyed doing things on impulse. Sam was always spoiling her fun. The longer they were married the more at odds they became. Sam always won, but there was a time coming when Helen would rebel. and that would be too bad.

The day before they were to start on their motor trip. Sam showed her a neat little black book. The book contain dol. 150 worth of dol. 10 travelers' checks. "We're all set", he said. "Now we won't have to worry about having our money stolen."

Helen didn't reply. She had been looking forward to this trip, and she didn't want to spoil it by promoting an argument the day before they started. But she had her own ideas of a man who took such ridiculous precautions.

They had planned to spend most of their time around the Great Lakes, visiting the northern most section of Wisconsin. They took a diagonal course, cutting up through Illinois. On the third day they blew a tire. Helen was disgusted.

"Careful Sam," she said bitterly, staring off on a two weeks' trip with a tire that is practically worn down to the tube."

Sam didn't reply. He had intended to change that tire the day before starting. He had forgotten.

He got out and took the tools from the trunk compartment. It was blisteringly hot. There was not a tree within miles. Sweat poured from his face as he worked. His patience began to go. A stubborn lugger nut broke the last remaining tie, and he gave a savage jerk with the wrench.

The wrench slipped. Sam squatting on his heels, fell forward. His right hand, bracing his body, buckled beneath his weight and something snapped. cry of anguish escaped his lips.

Helen got out of the car. She saw what had happened, and a sort of panic seized her. She wasn't a very good driver, didn't even have a licence, but in this emergency she'd have to get Sam to a hospital.

The trip to the next town was a nightmare. They found a doctor and the doctor took X-rays and bound Sam's arm in a sling. Sam reached into his pocket with his left hand and produced all the funds he had in cash. There was just enough to pay the doc.

"Good lord" he declared when they were outside. "now we're in for it. I can't sign the checks. we haven't any money." A smug look came into his face. "But I prepared for just such an emergency. I left some cash in the bank. You can send a wire and we'll have it in an hour."

"A wire from where?" Helen asked

Sam stared. Then he looked around. It was a tiny village. No railroad touched it, and certainly there was no telegraph office. "Good gosh!" he said. Desperation leaped into his eyes. They were stuck good and proper. They'd have to head for the next town and spend the night in the car. Perhaps they didn't have enough gas to reach the next town. Certainly they couldn't buy food. Why they didn't have enough to pay for a telegram.

Sam suddenly realized what a fool he'd been. "It's my fault," he admitted. "I've known for a long time you were right and I was wrong. I've been too stubborn to admit it. I'm sorry."

Helen's mouth fell open. "You mean you're actually sorry? You mean that this proved to you that it doesn't pay to be too cautious, that from now on you won't spoil my fun by preparing for a lot of unlikely emergencies?"

Sam nodded. "I guess," he said, "I'm a dumbhead."

"Well!" declared Helen in great relief, "then I won't have to spend an uncomfortable night sleeping in the car just to teach you a lesson."

"What do you mean by that?" Sam asked.

"I mean," laughed Helen, "that I was afraid something like this might happen, so I took that reserve money out of the bank."

Sam's eyes blazed. "You mean you've been carrying all that cash around with you loose? Good gosh! Suppose we were held up? Suppose we lost the money? Helen, how many times must I tell you it doesn't pay to take chances?"

Helen sighed wearily. "Forget it, darling. What's the use?" She reached into her purse and produced a neat little black book. "I had the money turned into travellers' checks, made out in my name. A precautionary measure."

"In Old Chicago" Comes Again To Pathe

A Great Historic Picture Made Against Absorbing Love Story

"In Old Chicago" a great film by Darryl F. Zanuck is coming to Pathe this week, with Tyrone Power, Don Amache, Alice Faye as stars and a fine supporting cast. You see in this film the Old Chicago actually burn to ashes before your eyes in the concluding part of the film.

Opening with the O'Learys in a covered wagon, bound for Chicago, Pa O'Leary typifies the grim brevity of existence in those days when he tries to outrace a new-fangled (Currier and Ives) locomotive. Molly O'Leary buries her husband in the prairies, only a few hours away from the city he longed so to see.

Then, the next morning Ma O'Learys brings her three sons into this brawling, bawdy city of 1854—and by dint of a fancy lady's mud-spattered gown, launches herself upon a career as laundress.

The boys grow up and by 1870 Bob O'Leary (Tom Brown) is married to a German immigrant girl (June Storey). Jack O' Leary is a strugling attorney and Dion is making his first inroads into politics.

Dion first swings into his stride when he woos Belle Fawcett (Miss Faye) so that he can control the choice site for a saloon which will drive his political boss (Brain Donlevy) out of business. The violent love scenes end with a sightly subdued Belle Fawcett becoming Dion's aide in a series of machinations which are culminated by a political plot electing Brother Jack O' Leary as reform mayor of Chicago.

The strange O'Leary tribe fights tooth and nail at times, and the climax comes when Dion has his brother perform the marriage cer- (Continued on Page 11, Col. 4).

WHITE TIGER IN JUNGLE DRAMA

"Booloo" Being Shown At New Empire

The story of a bold young adventurer who penetrates the steaming jungles of the Malay Peninsula in search of a mysterious white tiger is told in "Booloo," the new jungle drama, which Paramount present at New Empire this week.

Colin Tapley, the suave importation from New Zealand, plays the leading role in a cast which is made up of a dozen experienced Hollywood players plus hundreds of Malayan natives, many of whom had never seen a white man until the "Booloo" production unit penetrated their domains.

The plot revolves about the efforts of a young English adventurer to capture a mysterious white tiger, who is worshipped as a god by superstitious natives. If he succeeds in this weird quest, he will not only win great fame for himself in the field of science, but also will clear the name of his explorer-father, who has been ridiculed by his colleagues for writing about the animal

"Booloo" was produced and directed by a man who knows more about the jungle and its inhabitants than any one in the motion pictures. He is Clyde E. Elliott, who brought "Bring 'Em Back Alive" and "Devil Tiger" to the screen. "Booloo" represents one of this year's boldest production experiments, as Elliott took his technical crew and his featured players on a journey of twenty thousand miles, to Malaya and back. More than a year was spent in filming the picture.

"The Adventures Of Marco Polo"

A magnificent cavalcade of romance, splendour, excitement and fun moves swiftly across the screen of The Palace this week in Samuel Goldwyn's greatest screen masterpiece. "The Adventures of MARCO POLO". The production offers Gary Cooper in his most romantic role as the swashbuckling adventurer who was the world's first travelling salesman and opened the first important trade route between Europe and Asia during the colorful reign of the great Chinese Emperor, Kublai Khan, fighting and loving as he went.

The picture also introduces Sigrid Gurie, the Norwegian beauty discovered by Goldwyn, who will captivate the audience by her rare loveliness, charm and ability. The film has been produced on a tremendous scale, with a cast of some 5,000. The battle scenes are breath-taking in their realism and the production as a whole is very remarkable.

Second Week Laurel-Hardy Comedy At Wellington

"Swiss Miss" in which Laurel and Hardy make the funniest appearance as salesmen of mouse-traps continues for second week at the Wellington.

Kay Francis As Brave Mother

Fine Family Drama At Regal

Who does not remember the Kay Francis of Florence Nightingale? The same Kay Francis appears as a mother of five kids in a fine emotional drama of family life in "My Bill" at the Regal from to-day. It is made by Warner Brothers. Kay Francis demonstrates anew why she is one of the screen's greatest stars, and little Dickie Moore vieing with her for acting honors. They are merely, however, the dominant characters in what is truly a scintillating cast, which includes such accomplished juvenile players as Bonita Granville, Bobby Jordan, Anita Louise and Maurice Murphy, and such highly competent adults as John Litel, Elisabeth Risdon and Helena Philips Evans.

Even if Miss Francis had not given a compelling performance, her appearance in "My Bill" would still, constitute a matter of more than ordinary interest to picture-goers, for the role she plays is altogether unlike any she has ever before essayed on the screen. It is that of a mature woman, much more mature than the actual Kay Francis.

"EVERYTHING IS RHYTHM" AT CAPITOL

Harry Roy's Musical Comedy

Based on the spectacular rise to fame and the colorful romance of Harry Roy, popular star of radio the comedy musical "Everything is Rhythm is coming to the Capitol from Saturday, provides first class entertainment for both the "fans" and the family. The star does his stuff as only he can and compels versatility with personality. The famous Harry Roy band is at its best, and a flock of beauteous girls add to the eye's delight. A further and important feature of "Everything is Rhythm" is furnished by the captivating Princess Pearl, whose romantic wedding to Harry Roy is still fresh in the public memory.

The story depicts how Harry Wade and his band secure by subterfuge a contract to play at the fashionable Hotel Regal, and how after their first performance success is assured, Harry falls for Princess Paula of Monrovia, an attractive guest, and she for him but when their romance comes to the notice of the Monrovian authorities she is whisked back home in circumstances that suggest that she and Harry are parted for ever. He, heartbroken, accepts a contract for a world tour, and of course, finishes up in Monrovia. Attempts are made to keep Paula and Harry apart, but when he learns that she still loves him, he, aided by her friend, carries her off under the very nose of an unpleasant duke to whom she had meanwhile been affianced by force.

EXCELLENT COMEDY AT EROS

"You Can't Take It With You"

The Columbia comedy at the Eros "You Can't Take It With you" is produced by Frank Capra and is a screen version of the Pulitzer prize-winning stage-play by George Kaffman and Moss Hart.

There is a cast which consists of all best stars. Jean Arthur, James Stuart, Lionel Barrymore, Mischa Auer and all others are there. Full of delightful and witty conversation and excellent acting, the picture must be on the diary of all true lovers of good films.

"ROMANCE FOR THREE" AT METRO

Frank Morgan, Mary Astor And Robert Young

Thrills, laughs and spills are the keynotes of "Romance For Three" which opened at Metro yesterday. Laughs come from the plot of the escapade in the Alps. And spills are the result of the sky jumps made by amateurs.

The all-star comedy cast is headed by Frank Morgan, Robert Young, Mary Astor, Edna May Oliver, Florence Rice, Reginald Owen, Henry Hull and Herman Bing.

Most of the snow scenes for the film were made near famous Lake Arrowhead, where the company was on location for several weeks, during which every principal was required to ski.

The story concerns a rich capitalist who wins his own contest for a prize slogan and goes to the Alps for two weeks as a prize. He pretends to be poor and takes his valet along to act as a rich man. His family informs the hotel that Morgan is actually rich, but they make a mistake and treat the other contest winner, Young, as the rich man.

Young has been poor so long that he enjoys the Mistake, and that's where the trouble starts. Miss Astor tries to vamp all three men, much to the disapproval of Miss Rice, Morgan's daughter, who joins with his house-keeper, Miss Oliver, to put a stop to the whole thing.

The picture was directed by Edward N. Buzzell, and Sam Zimbalist produced.

"When Thief Meets Thief" At Excelsior

Junior Douglas Fairbanks And Valerie Hobson Starring

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. takes the role of a daring cat-burglar in his latest film "Jump For Glory," which comes to the Excelsior Theatre on Saturday.

In this production Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. has one of the most colourful roles of his career as an adventure-loving young man who is forced into a life of crime.

Ricky Morgan, a healthy young American, leaves college with optimistic hopes of the future, but adverse circumstances compel him to become a dock labourer in New Orleans. Thirsting for adventure, he joins Jim Dial and Chuck the Swede in a bootlegging venture. In a fight with Ricky, the Swede dies, and Ricky believes himself to be a murderer. Dial takes possession of a heavy ring Ricky was wearing and uses it as an instrument of blackmail.

Under Dial's domination Ricky becomes a daring cat-burglar, but eventually breaks free and comes to England. Some time later he discovers that his ring is in the possession of a young lady named Glory Howard. He breaks into her apartment where the tenant discovers him and shoots him in the arm. Despite this unconventional meeting they fall madly in love.

Ricky learns that Glory is engaged to a certain Colonel Fane, but he persuades her to run away into hiding with him. Ricky finds it difficult to get a job, and when Glory leaves to go through with her marriage with Fane, he assumes that she is unwilling to face possible poverty.

Ricky stands in the crowd at Glory's wedding and discovers that the bridegrooms is none other than Jim Dial. That night Ricky breaks into Dial's house hoping to (Continued on Page 11, Col. 4).

Bombay Reiterates Opposition To Imperialist Wars

Enthusiastic Response To Anti-War Call

A resolution expressing the profound sorrow of the citizens of Bombay at the passing away of Kemal Ataturk, was passed at a meeting, held in observance of the "Anti-War Day" at Popatwadi, Kalbadevi, on Friday night.

The meeting, which was held under the auspices of the B. P. C. C., was presided over by Mr. Nagindas T. Master and was addressed by Messrs. Motichand Kapadia, Ganpatishanker Desai, S. A. Brelvi, Maulvi Mohiuddin Kasuri and Mr. Hirachand Mehr.

POPPY ECLIPSED BY TRI-COLOUR

The Congress Socialist Party had organised sale of Tri-colour Flowers in observance of the Anti-war day. Babu Subash Chandra Bose, the Congress President, had issued an appeal to the citizens of Bombay to support this move of the Socialist Party. His appeal found enthusiastic response and met with great success. 20,000 flowers which had been prepared for sale were all sold out by early noon and later on collections had to be made without flowers.

Volunteers covered the whole city selling these flowers and met with enthusiastic response. A little girl who asserted that the money would be used for helping soldiers of Indian freedom in answer to a query from a Parsi gentleman was rewarded with a donation of six rupees by him.

ONLY ANTIDOTE TO WAR

The organisation of this novel demonstration are well satisfied with the public response.

Mr. Nagindas Master presiding over the meeting at night said that the day was being observed to reiterate India's resolve not to participate in Imperialist wars. He referred to the fever of rearmament that was raging in Europe and the prevalence of war in Asia. The beast in man was having the upper hand. It was their sacred duty to put an end to the inhuman and monstrous practice of war and to eradicate the use of force in the settlement of disputes whether it be between individuals or nations.

He referred to the principles of Truth and Non-violence propounded by Mahatma Gandhi and said that non-violence was the only antidote for war. To follow the principles of Mahatma Gandhi was the only way to establish peace in the world and there was a great need to instruct the people in the path of non-violence and to create public opinion in support of the same.

THE WAR OBSESSION

Mr. Motichand Kapadia read out the Haripura resolution on war danger and in calling upon the people to reaffirm the same said that war had never settled any question. He referred to the perpetual terror in which the people of Europe lived and pointed out how their minds were obsessed with war.

The decision of any question, either between individuals or between nations, should not depend on the use of force. A study of history showed that war had never solved any problem. He referred to conditions in Germany. People thought she had been beaten and humbled in the great war. But Germany had again come into her own and was proving a terror to Europe.

He also pointed out that from an economic point of view war would prove a great disaster.

RAJKOT STRUGGLE.

Mr. Ganpatishankar Desai in supporting the resolution referred to the struggle in Rajkot and said that it was a struggle for elementary rights. It was being conducted in a non-violent manner and was in no way inconsistent with their opposition to war.

He also referred to the Army Bill recently passed by the Central Legislature and said that a time might soon come when they would have to break that law. He asserted that when the time came they would not shirk from breaking that law.

The resolution was reaffirmed. Mr. S. A. Brelvi moved another resolution expressing profound regret at the death of Kemal Ataturk. This resolution was also passed.

The meeting then dispersed.

'PARLE CIVIC ELECTION PROSPECTS

Congress Confident Of Securing Majority

(From Our Correspondent).
VILE-PARLE: Friday.

The 'Parle-Andheri Municipal elections come off on Sunday next. The Vile-Parle area is considered to be the stronghold of Congress elements amongst the Suburbs of Bombay. This prerogative has been sufficiently justified in the declaration of two uncontested wards, viz: "B" and "C", whereas on the eve of Municipal elections drawing quite nearer, the prospects of the respective Congress candidates are bright, indeed.

From amongst the Andheri area Sjts. C. D. Barfiwalla and Salekker, the Congress candidates, I gather, are expected to get an easy win and both of them have launched an intense propaganda to enlist public support.

The prospects of Dr. R. P. Bhatt and Sjt. S. K. Raje are also brilliant. The former is a sitting member of the Vile-Parle Municipality and has rendered valuable services on the Municipal Sanitation Committee and is chiefly responsible for the cultural activities of Andheri. While the latter is one of the leading advocates of the Andheri Bar, practising in the Bombay Suburban and Thana District since 1926. He is also the Chairman of the C. K. P. Samaj, Andheri, for a number of years. Mr. J. W. L. Gomes, who is the first non-official President of the Juhu Municipality, is also contesting a seat on the Vile-Parle Municipal Board.

As for Santa-Cruz, in spite of the persistent campaign carried on by the Independent candidates put by the Tenants Association, the prospects of the Congress candidates are undoubtedly cheerful.

nationalism that had asserted itself in spite of the defeats which Turkey had suffered at the hands of the Allies in the War. He stood for a new regime and a new era, which presented a sharp contrast with the things that Turkey had stood for before. He proved beyond all shadow of doubt that social reform must precede all political freedom and that orthodoxy was not so indestructible after all. He did in Turkey what the ex-King Amanullah failed to do for his people. It showed what immense popularity he exerted over the Turkish people, for to have made orthodox Islam change so radically as he had made it do was no mean achievement.

That is the man who has faded out of the Turkish picture. The memory of him will never die. His name is enshrined in the hearts of his people—the Turks whom he saved from the destruction to which they were moving. He rebuilt a structure of society which can keep pace with the times, abreast of Western Science and of Western thought. For that the Turks will ever remain grateful.

Kemal was no great lover of Great Britain. His sympathies were more with the Soviets and the Latins. He seemed to see in the U.S.S.R. and in Italy the countries and the Empires of the future. And he remembered too well what Britain and the Allies had done to him and his people.

One does not know who will ever fill his place. Perhaps, it is the best tribute that could be paid to him that he had no successor who could stand comparison with him. As Mahatma Gandhi has said, let us hope that the Turkish people will pull through the crisis that face them at the death of their undoubted leader.

This has been quite a common sign for centuries. Adam and Eve were very popular characters in the ancient Miracle plays. There is in Kensington High Street an Adam & Eve where Sheridan frequently stayed for refreshment. Here he ran up a bill which his patron, Lord Holland, was finally obliged to settle.

The Belgaum Tragedy

How The Parsi Family Was Drowned

Mr. T. P. Daver writes from Belgaum:

A most tragic disaster overtook the Parsi priest of Ahmednagar who with his family consisting of his young wife and infant child and 2 grown-up daughters by a previous wife and an Ayah was on holiday on this side. Having visited Gersoppa Falls, the party passed through here (Belgaum) on the evening of the 8th instant on their way to Miraj by car. They left here at about 7 p.m. and attempted to cross an unbridged 'nallah' along the road near the village of Ankli—a few miles from the Taluk town of Chikodi in this district, at about 10 p.m. It seems, as there was less than knee-deep water when they approached the 'nallah,' the driver confidently ventured in but as his engine stalled, probably due to water being splashed into the distributor, while still in the water, he got out to investigate, when all of a sudden apparently a bore in the 'nallah' came sweeping down and the level of the water started rising very rapidly until the car was soon submerged and actually started drifting down-stream with the large volume of water. The driver escaped to the bank shouting to his passengers to get out of the car, but the rise in the water was so rapid that only the younger daughter of the family—a young lady of 18-19—managed somehow to swim and scramble to the bank after being battered about, while all her relatives (four souls in all, including her infant sister of 2) and the Ayah were unfortunately swept away and drowned in the stream.

The feelings and condition of this young girl—the only one of the family to escape a watery grave and survive this awful disaster—during the rest of the night which she spent (alone but for the driver) frantically rushing up and down the bank of the stream shouting and crying in vain to the members of her family who were swept away out of existence at one stroke, can better be imagined than described!

On news of this tragedy reaching the Taluk station of Chikodi yesterday morning, the Revenue & Police Officers there immediately motored down to the spot and held a panchnama, etc., and rendered what help they could to the poor dazed girl who, however, gave admirable evidence of great strength of nerves and fortitude under the very trying and pathetic circumstances. Parties of Parsees from Belgaum and Miraj were also on the spot and gave every possible help.

ONE BODY FOUND

Only one corpse—that of Mrs. Nowdar, the priest's wife—has been found hitherto, the rest being still missing. This lady's corpse was traced to a spot about a couple of miles down-stream from the site of the disaster, close to the bank of the River Krishna which the 'nallah' meets a few hundred yards from the site.

As the 'nallah' in which this accident occurred is comparatively shallow and very wide and flat (i.e., not having high or precipitous banks), I wonder if any of your scientifically-minded readers could account for the sudden occurrence of a bore of such great volume and strength in almost mid-November which is well after the termination of the monsoon rains. The strength of the sudden wave which swept the party away is proved by the fact that their heavy Buick saloon had been carried away a good 150 yards or more along the sand and rock-covered basin of the 'nallah.' Some moderate showers of rain had fallen in the upper reaches of the 'nallah' during the previous day but these hardly seem sufficient to account for the very high and sudden rise of water.

WANTED A BRIDGE

Besides, can any of your readers explain why the heavy swell in the water was apparently concentrated in about the centre of the basin of the 'nallah' instead of spreading evenly over its wide and more or less flat surface?

Will you also kindly permit me to call the attention of Mr. Nuri, our Minister of Public Works, as also of the Minister of Local Self-Government (as perhaps this road from Chikodi to Kagwad is a L. Board road), to this treacherous 'nallah' which has accounted for five precious lives, and strongly urge the construction of a bridge or, at least, a fairly high causeway across it with sufficiently high guard-stones, a parapet or strong railings at least on the side of the roadway nearest the direction of the flow of the 'nallah'? I feel certain that the existence of such a bridge or causeway would have prevented the occurrence of this tragic disaster.

(Latest information from Poona shows that the body of Mr. Ervad Nowdar was found, but those of his drowned daughters have not yet been traced.—Editor, "B. C.").

status of independent Turkey. He worked with fierce but quiet determination to make of Turkey a modern nation with a programme of industrial and economic reconstruction and he invited all the European countries to help him in this work. He distributed the contracts for various schemes of industrial development without partiality while taking the necessary precaution of protecting the country against economic penetration and the possibility of exploitation.

We Salute

His nationalism merged indeed in internationalism that is essential for the existence of a progressive modern nation. Turkey, under the Ataturk's leadership, has established the precedent of an Islamic nation that could live on the best model of the progressive and peaceful European countries. It is the first nation in Asia to give a lead in this direction. The greatness she possesses is undeniably the result of the Ataturk's devotion, idealism and constructive work. The man may well have had his faults. He enjoyed the unenviable reputation of the dictator. That was, no doubt, his misfortune. But he was a great man as no mere dictator could ever be a great man and we salute that greatness to-day when the man is dead.

Police Firing Justified

Coroner's Jury Verdict On Chavan's Death

That the police were justified in opening fire on an unruly crowd near the Spring Mill, Bombay, on Monday during the disturbances that arose out of the general strike organised on that day as a protest against the Industrial Disputes Bill, was the unanimous verdict given by the Bombay Coroner's jury at the inquest on Thursday on Bhairoo Raoji Chavan, who died on Tuesday as a result of a gunshot wound he sustained on Monday. Death was certified to be due to accumulation of blood and air in the chest cavity owing to a bullet wound.

After several witnesses had been examined, the Coroner made a speech to the Jury explaining the circumstances of the firing. He said that in regard to the firing which the police resorted to and in consequence of which the man on whose body this inquest is being held came by his death. He felt constrained to observe that there is considerable ignorance in the minds even of people who are supposed to know the law.

RIGHT OF DEFENCE

"These people seem to imagine that firing is not to be resorted to without the orders of the Magistrate. Their conception of the law on this point is altogether erroneous. The law as laid down in the Indian Penal Code is that (1) every person has the right to defend his own body and the body of any other person against any offence affecting the human body. (2) That nothing is an offence which is done in the exercise of such a right of defence known as the right of private defence—provided that the harm inflicted in the exercise of that right is not worse than necessary for the purpose of such defence.

The right extends under the restriction mentioned above, to the voluntary causing of death in the case of such an assault as may be a reasonable cause for apprehension of death or of grievous hurt

Thus the right of private defence is available to any person whatever, whether a police officer or not. There is no question of the intervention of the Magistrate in cases of this nature.

Further, when the police are unable to cope with a serious riot the aid of the military or Naval forces or both may be requisitioned. Only in such a case the orders of a Magistrate became necessary for the use of force to quell the riot. You must remember that even in a case of emergency an order to fire cannot be given. All that the Magistrate is empowered to do is to ask the officer in command to use military or naval force as the case may be, to quell the riot.

The nature of the force to be used and the extent to which it is to be used, is a matter entirely at the discretion of the officer in charge, provided that he uses as little force as is consistent with the quelling of the riot.

You must remember that the police are on duty during times of serious disturbances, not to be killed, but to save others as well as themselves from being killed by rioters. When therefore they reasonably apprehend that the lives of people as well as their own lives are in danger they have every right to use such force, including firing.

The Bombay Coroner's jury returned the following verdict:—"Death was caused by accumulation of blood and air in the chest cavity due to a bullet which pierced the right-side of his chest having pierced both his lungs. This bullet was one of those fired by the police on rioters.

A rider was added by the jury that, "on the evidence which we have heard and on seeing the injuries on the persons injured by the rioters on the 7th November and on seeing the damage done to a motor car which the rioters had stoned we are satisfied that the police were perfectly justified in opening fire on the rioters mob. In our opinion the deceased, who was an innocent man unfortunately got mixed up among the rioters and was hit."

BABAR AKALI MOVEMENT ECHO

Guruditsingh To Pay Death Penalty

LAHORE, Nov. 11.

Echo of the Babar Akali movement in Central Punjab about fifteen years ago was heard at the Lahore High Court to-day when the Chief Justice and Mr. Justice Blacker confirmed the sentence of death against a Babar Akali named Gurditsingh.

Gurditsingh and his two accomplices were alleged to have murdered Anupsingh and his twelve years old son at Manko, a village in Jullunder District, because Anupsingh had helped the police in tackling Babar Akali movement and had also figured an approver in the Babar Akali case.

Gurditsingh was originally granted King's pardon, but later he was prosecuted on the original charge of murder, as he had forfeited the pardon by retracting his confession.

One of the accomplices of Gurditsingh has already been hanged, while the other was acquitted by the High Court.—A. P.

TRADES DISPUTES BILL IN COUNCIL

S. C. Joshi's Three-hour Attack On Measure

(From Our Correspondent)

POONA, Nov. 11.

The Bombay Legislative Council met to-day to discuss the Industrial Dispute Bill with Mr. M. M. Pakvasa, President, in the Chair.

Replying to a question of Mr. B. N. Karanjia, Revenue Minister, Mr. Morarji Desai said that the Government had no information if the Government of India proposed to take over the whole of Juhu area for military purposes.

To another question of the same Member Mr. L. M. Patil Local Self-Government Minister, stated that the urban portion of Bombay Suburban district upto northern limits of Versova, Andheri and Ghatkoper were proposed to be covered by Government's proposed Greater Bombay Scheme which he further assured would be placed before Legislature when it was finally decided upon.

Hon. Mr. B. G. Kher, Premier, introduced and moved the first reading of the Industrial Disputes Bill. He stated that the Bill had been brought by Government to fulfil its policy of Labour as aaumbrated in Government's Communique of August 17, 1937. He referred to industrial disputes of past seventeen years, which had resulted in dislocation of industrial peace and loss of crores of rupees. The Trade Disputes Acts of 1929 and 1934 were found insufficient in as much as they did not contemplate compulsory conciliation, which the present measure sought to do.

Hon. Mr. Kher then explained in detail the major provision of the Bill and said that he did not claim any perfection for the Bill. All the same it was a guarantee for Government's goodwill towards Labour. If Labour was properly organised, as was contemplated under this Bill, and if strike were resorted to only after all machinery provided under this measure was exhausted they were bound to succeed to secure the desired result This Bill had been opposed by a particular school of thought with which the Government did not agree. It was stated that the Bill took away workers' right to strike but they cared only for individual liberty without taking into consideration collective responsibility.

Mr. S. C. Joshi objecting to the first reading of the Bill enumerated eleven different grounds on which he was opposed to the measure. He characterised the measure as reactionary and retrograde confusing and complicated and defective and ill-digested.

He stated that the Bill sought to deprive workers of two of their fundamental rights namely right of Freedom of Association and right to strike. He maintained that the Bill went beyond the scope as mentioned in the Preamble and statement of Objects and Reasons. It was also calculated to infuse unhealthy rivalry between organisations of Labour and making their position unsecure. Next it created Unions, which could be controlled by employers. The Bill further took away Unions' right to negotiate on behalf of workers. The measure was primarily of a penal nature and dealt with offences in contravention of its provisions. Lastly the measure was unworkable.

Proceeding Mr. Joshi stated that the Bill was one-sided and favoured employers more than the workers. He stated that the Bill sought to create rival unions, in which one with a small percentage of membership could drive out another with a larger percentage. The authority given to the Registrar to cancel registration of one union, after receiving application from another was also an objectionable one. Mr. Joshi had developed his objections one by one and had not finished his speech although he had been on his feet for nearly three hours, when the House adjourned till 12 noon to-morrow.

Weakliness spoils your son's life

BUILD HIM UP WHILE HE IS GROWING

ENDOW YOUR SON WITH STRENGTH FOR SUCCESS

IF your son is underweight, or has days of lost appetite, tiredness or bad-temper, he is on the verge of illness. He may just avoid colds, fevers or epidemics, but his vitality is sapped, and if he gets ill, recovery is slow. Your boy cannot develop into a vigorous man while he is thin.

Give him SCOTT'S EMULSION, the tonic-food prescribed by Doctors for 60 years. In a few weeks you will see him gain weight, vigour and new joy. Scott's is a balanced strengthener: it contains:

COD LIVER OIL — Nature's own food-tonic and concentrated source of:

VITAMIN A — the bio-chemical principle of growth and of resistance against infections.

VITAMIN D — without which the body cannot make calcium into bones and teeth.

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA which supply calcium for solid bones and sound teeth; and phosphorus for healthy nerves and brain-tissue.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is a natural strength-giver; it supplies substances in which ordinary diet is deficient. Scott's gives resistance against infection, specially in the lungs. It enables free development of the whole body. It contains no drugs for temporary stimulation, but gives lasting stamina. Every drop of Scott's has a lifetime's effect.

PHYSICAL TRAINING — without a sound structure of bone, muscle and nerves, scientific exercising cannot develop children into 100% fit men and women. SCOTT'S EMULSION builds up the under-weight body, enriches the blood and strengthens the nerves. It provides the material for physical training to develop and prevents overstrain from exercise.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is three times as effective as plain Cod Liver Oil. Scott's is assimilated within thirty minutes while digestion of plain oil only begins after seven hours. Creamy Scott's stimulates appetite and makes other foods yield more nourishment.

SCOTT'S Emulsion

Needed India's Mustard Oil Industry: Improved Milling Methods

Second in importance only to groundnut, with an annual production of one million tons and cultivation extending to six million acres is the mustard and rape seed oil industry of India. Ninety per cent. of the crop is consumed for domestic requirements and of the 296,000 tons. average annual consumption from 1929 to 1936, consumed outside India, India contributed 81,000 tons—6 per cent. of the country's average annual production—by exports. To the study of this important industry is devoted Bulletin No. 13 of the series of Bulletins of Indian Industrial Research of the Industrial Research Bureau, written by Mr. D. Y. Ashawale, Mr. J. A. Hare Duke, and Mr. P. N. Mathur.

The experiments show that the requirements of certain mustard oil specifications in force in India need to be relaxed in order that they may admit all genuine oils having characteristics within the ranges of variation shown to be a feature of commercial supplies of genuine seeds and oil. It is desirable that all specifications for mustard (rape) oil be drawn up in India on a national basis.

ECONOMIC METHOD

The fixed vegetable oils from the seeds of Brassica expressed by modern oil mills are an almost completely odourless and tasteless product, but the Indian market demands a strong pungent smelling mustard oil for edible purposes. The essential oil of mustard, with its characteristic pungent odour, is not present in the fresh seed as a separate constituent, and the pungency is developed in the seed by fermentation when the oil is expressed by the oil ghanni methods.

Modern oil milling plant can, however, be operated so as to produce edible mustard oil as pungent as ghanni-pressed oil if operated in accordance with the methods described in the Bulletin. The yield of oil from modern expressing plant is 2 to 2 1/2 per cent. greater than that obtained from power driven ghannis and 4 per cent. more than that given by country bullock-driven ghannis. Moreover, modern expressing plant is much more economical in power consumption.

IS INDIAN COTTON CHEAP?

Messrs. Langley and Co. state:+

The Bombay market is now following May rather than December and while the statement made in Reuter's N. Y. review of last week that Indian cotton in Osaka is reported at the cheapest ratio with American cotton on record is far from correct as regards the futures contracts of New York and Bombay, it is nearer the truth, though still in accurate, when old crop Broach, at a discount relative to Broach April-May, is compared with American spot cotton, at a premium on the December contract. In other words, the contracts spread is much narrower than the cotton spread, from which it might be inferred that American contracts are cheap and, to a lesser extent, Indian contracts dear.

On the face of it, there should be a good export demand for Indian cotton this season. That to some extent will be offset by a smaller domestic demand—indications are not wanting that Indian cloth markets are beginning to feel the pinch of reduced purchasing power due to lower commodity prices.

Meanwhile, the fairly satisfactory demand from Lancashire vanished completely when the Liverpool futures market about a week ago began to weaken in relation to New York. And Japan also is quiet.

It is improbable that even an improved export demand will be able to offset the weight of the crop during the period of maximum movement from mid January to end March. For the time being, however, we think there is quite a lot to be said for purchases of Broach July-August particularly on any recessions.

Following a spell of favourable weather, the west coast has again been visited by a cyclonic storm. Reports so far received indicate that only very light rains have reached the cotton districts.

U. S. A. OUTLOOK BRIGHTER

Messrs. Batlivala and Karani have received the following cable from New York dated 9th instant:—

"Business this week has moved ahead to another new high and further expansion of recovery movement is insured by Tuesday's Election returns. The indicated gain by Republicans of about eight Senate and Seventy-two House seats exceeded most optimistic expectations. Results should mark end of further regimentation and reform and encourage re-employment of capital in constructive enterprise. While longterm outlook is made brighter from short-term viewpoint accepting profits on further immediate bulge is advisable with a view of replacement on reactions caused by realizing."

Glut Of Funds Seeks Investment

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEWS

(From Our Special Correspondent.)

BOMBAY, Nov. 11

MONEY

A glut of funds seeking short-term investment was a predominant feature of the money market during the week under report, call funds being quoted at no better than 1/4 per cent. per annum. The statement of the Reserve Bank of India, made upto the 4th November 1938, reveals a decline of Rs. 118.07 lacs in Government Deposits, while Bank Deposits are down by Rs. 216.19 lacs. Other Deposits show a similar decline of Rs. 19.42 lacs. The note circulation, on the other hand, is up by Rs. 247.25 lacs. Advances by the Bank to the Government under 'Ways and Means' are down by Rs. 49 lacs to Rs. 2.59 crores, while balances held abroad record a decline of Rs. 41.97 lakhs and the ratio of gold plus sterling assets to total liabilities of the Issue Department has declined further by .002 to 50.792 per cent. The statement of the Imperial Bank of India of the same date reveals an increase of Rs. 69.32 lacs in the Investment Portfolio of the Bank, while advances show a similar rise of Rs. 98.27 lakhs. The cash balances of the Bank are down by Rs. 205.29 lakhs to Rs. 11.49 crores. Total applications for three months' Treasury Bills amounted to Rs. 3.44 crores. of which Rs 2½ crores were accepted. The average rate of discount was Rs. 1-5-10 per cent. per annum. Government also accepted Rs. 15.50 lakhs of intermediates at Rs. 99-11, yielding Rs. 1-4-1 per cent. per annum. Maturities amounted to Rs. 1½ crores, whilst the amount on offer next week is Rs. 2½ crores. Term money rates were practically unchanged at 1-1/4 per cent. for three months and 1-1/2 per cent. for six months.

EXCHANGE.

Sterling exchange was flat throughout the period under report, sellers of spot T. T. quoting 1s. 5-29/32d. and buyers 1s. 5-15/16d. Occasional business was reported at varying intermediate rates within this range. Some temporary influx of funds against secured forward exchange was reported during the week probably for short-term investment in this market. Business in connection with export of gold or gold coins on arbitrage account was negligible and the showing of merchandise export bills in Bombay and Calcutta was small.

Among the foreign exchanges in London, sterling opened steady in terms of other European currencies and the dollar. The sterling/dollar cross-rate, after opening at 476.12 cents, declined to 475.58 cents mid-week, and after a sharp rally to 476.50 cents, reacted at the close to 474.75 cents on reported continental purchases of dollars. The Control was reported to have intervened intermittently. The premium on three months' forward dollars showed but small variations between 1.09 cents and 1.03 cents. The spot franc was firmly pegged by the Control and variations were confined to a narrow range, the highest and lowest rates recorded during the week being 178.82 and 178.62. On some reported bear-covering, the discount on three months' forward francs narrowed from the opening level of frs. 4 to frs. 3.56. The guilder, the belga and the lira were quoted at 8.74-5/8, 28.13-1/2 and 90.46 respectively at the opening, but closed better at 8.74-3/8, 28.12 and 90.35 respectively.

The Shanghai dollar showed small fluctuations between 8d. and 8 1/16d., while the yen kept almost stationary around 1s. 2d. all through.

GILT-EDGED

In the absence of any selling pressure, the gilt-edged market continued to rule steady. 3 1/2 per cent. Rupee paper after opening at Rs. 98-2 advanced gradually and closed at Rs. 98-8 on bear-covering, while 3 1/2 per cent Sterling Stock in the London Market opened at £92 1/4, and after a fractional improvement to £92 1/2, reacted and closed at the opening level. In spite of continued unrestricted supply of funds on the money market, investors were reluctant to go in for long-dated scrips, but medium and short dated bonds and loans were not so difficult to place; 2 3/4 per cent. 1948-52 loan was almost static at Rs. 99-10, 4 per cent. 1960-70 loan at Rs. 111-8 and 5 per cent. 1940-43 loan at Rs. 106-2. 3 per cent. 1941 bonds were quoted a trifle better at Rs. 102-14, whilst 3 per cent. 1951-54 loan was marked up at Rs. 101-10, 3 1/2 per cent. 1947-50 loan at Rs.105-4 and 4 per cent. 1943 bonds at Rs. 108-6. 4 1/2 per cent. 1955-60 loan closed higher at Rs.118-12, while business in 5 per cent. 1939-44 loan was done at Rs. 102-5. 5 per cent. 1945-55 (tax free) loan showed little change around Rs. 116-12 and 3 per cent. 1963-65 new loan around Rs. 98-3.

GOLD

The local gold market was again dominated during the major part of the week by purchases from an undisclosed source which is reported by certain newspapers to be the Reserve Bank of India. Spot gold, after opening at Rs. 36-8-6, declined fractionally to Rs. 36-8 on Tuesday, closing higher again at Rs. 36-9 in sympathy with the sterling/dollar cross-rate. November settlement was quoted at level rate with spot, while December settlement commanded a premium of three pies. In the London market, the quotation for spot gold declined from the opening level of 146s. 1d. to 145s. 11 1/2d. on Tuesday, but closed higher again at 146-5 1/2 d. The premium on gold over the dollar arbitrage parity was 1/2d. throughout the week. Fresh business in connection with export of gold on arbitrage account was restricted since the local market ruled above export parity except at the close when the special buying was reported to have been temporarily withdrawn. Locally sovereigns were quoted at Rs. 23-7-6 at the opening, but the market closed a fraction better at Rs. 23-8 in sympathy with gold. Floating stocks of gold are estimated at between 2,25,000 and 2,50,000 tolas because reselling by arbitrageurs and speculators was offset by purchases from the undisclosed source to the extent of about 1,25,000 tolas. Arrivals from upcountry average some 10,000 tolas a day, while the daily offtake is about unchanged at 1,500 tolas. Imports during the week amounted to Rs.72,883 in gold bullion and coins, while last week's shipment to London per s.s. "Maloja" is valued at Rs. 5,44,462. The highest and lowest rates recorded during the week are: Rs. 36-8-9 and Rs. 36-8 for spot and November settlement and Rs. 36-9 and Rs. 36-8-3 for December settlement.

SILVER

Spot silver, after opening at Rs. 50-12-6,, advanced to Rs. 50-14 early in the week on steadier advices from London and after a drop mid-week to Rs. 50-10, closed better at Rs. 50-12-3. Silver for delivery during November and December settlements was quoted at level rates with spot. The turnover in the market was better than during the previous week, a majority of transactions being confined to carry-over business. In London, spot silver opened somewhat lower at 19-½ and improved steadily to 19-5/8d. and closed unchanged, while the backwardation between spot and two months' forward delivery narrowed from 5/16d. to 1/4d. mid-week, but widened again at the close to 5/16d. Stocks on hand are estimated at about 4,500 bars, while daily offtake is estimated at about 25 bars. Imports during the week amounted to Rs. 26,673 in silver coins, while 152 bars of silver were also imported from abroad. The highest and lowest rates recorded during the week are: Rs. 50-14 and Rs. 50-10 for spot, November and December settlements.

SHARES

The local stock exchange ruled fairly steady during the week under the influence of steadier Wall Street advices where a bright sentiment was manifest especially after the election results. The steel section reaped a rich harvest. Tata Iron and Steel Deferreds putting up over 120 points at Rs. 1,542-8, while Ordinaries recorded a similar gain of over 22 points at Rs. 322. At the close, however, profit-taking checked the uptrend and prices were marked down on the closing list. Tata Deferreds closed at Rs. 1,542-8 and Ordinaries at Rs. 314-8 The cotton mill group also followed in the wake of the steel section although gains in this group were somewhat restricted. Bombay Dyeings recorded a steady gain of 18 points at Rs. 920, Central Indias gained over 10 points at Rs. 254-8 and Centuries put up 7 points at Rs. 276. At the close, however, most of the earlier gains were wiped off by realising sales, Bombay Dyeings closing at as low as Rs. 906-4, whilst Central Indias suffered a similar setback to Rs. 250-8 and Centuries to Rs. 272. Colaba Lands moved narrowly between Rs. 150 and Rs. 153, while Kohinoors, after advancing from Rs. 269 to Rs. 279, reacted and closed at Rs. 272 Gokaks likewise made headway from Rs. 152 to Rs. 161-8, but relapsed at the end to Rs. 158; New Greats put up well nigh ten points at Rs. 250, closing lower at Rs. 241. Bank and Railway shares were in the background, prices in most cases remaining stable around the previous close; Bank of Indias recorded a small gain of a rupee at Rs. 146, whilst Central Banks were rigidly held around Rs. 30-4; Imperial Bank Fully Paids were in request at Rs. 1585 earlier in the week, but later found sellers at Rs. 1581-4, whilst Partly Paids were done at Rs. 382-8. Reserve Banks were almost static at Rs. 115 all through. Ahmed. Prantij Railway scrips were dealt in at Rs. 938-12 and Tapti Valleys at Rs. 726-4. In the Hydro-electric group, appreciable gains were seen and this section of the market maintained a remarkably steady tone throughout; Andhra Valleys steadily moved up from Rs. 1430 to Rs. 1445 at the close, while Tata Hydros advanced from Rs. 156 to Rs. 158-8; Bombay Trams ruled firm at Rs. 123-8, whilst Tata Powers were done at Rs. 1345. In the miscellaneous section. Associated Cements ruled erratic, the quotation after advancing from Rs. 113 to Rs. 115 earlier in the week, sagged to Rs. 113, closing somewhat higher again at Rs. 114, whilst Belapurs advanced from Rs. 184 to Rs. 191 closing lower at Rs. 186. Bombay Burmas, on the other hand, showed a constant rise from the opening level of Rs. 511-4 to Rs. 535 at the end, whilst Scindia Steams ruled steady around Rs. 20-14, closing a fraction lower at Rs. 20-7.

CALCUTTA.

A steady tone was manifest in the jute section on the Calcutta stock market throughout the past week, but price gains were small. Activity was, however, much circumscribed and only a limited business was put through.

DIRECTORY OF RADIO DEALERS

Enterprise Of Merchants' Association

The Radio trade in India is one of the newest lines of activity among the commercial community of India. But it has already acquired a foothold throughout the country and there are few towns of any size anywhere which are without their radio shops and service men. The Indian Post Office has already issued over eighteen hundred dealers' licences and the number is steadily increasing every month. But it is to be admitted with regret that not all who own licences are genuine dealers, since quite a large number of middle men do business on commission under the name of Radio Dealers. In the interests of the public who would like to have the fullest possible information about the radio trade and those, genuinely interested in the import and sale of wireless apparatus, the All-India Radio Merchants' Association is proposing to publish a Directory of the Radio and allied trades in India. The Secretary would welcome suggestions and information in this regard.

FAIR DEAL.

Radios are little understood in this country even by those who buy them and enjoy the facilities which they provide. Too often there are complaints that the buyer did not get a fair deal owing to a crowd of mushroom dealers. Sometimes the price is supposed to be too high or the instrument turns out to be not exactly what it was expected to be. If any radio buyer has a complaint of this nature, he has now a court of appeal in the All-India Radio Merchants' Association which will be glad to investigate such complaints if it concerns any members of the Association. The public, therefore, will be advised to buy from such dealers as are members of the Association.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU FOR RADIO MECHANICS.

The All-India Radio Merchants' Association has recently started an Employment Bureau to help unemployed radio mechanics to find suitable work and also to put radio dealers, present and prospective, in touch with capable and qualified men who can attend to their clients' requirements with confidence of giving full satisfaction. This move should result in strengthening the technical side of the Trade considerably. Those interested in either obtaining a post or in securing trained men would do well to communicate with the Secretary.

BATTLE OVER BIRTH CONTROL

state of weakness. It would then become a matter of recreation. Self-control was the best form of birth control. India wanted not physically degraded men and women.

Mr. R. R. Bhole supported the motion.

Mr. B. K. Gaikwad in supporting the resolution said that continence was only an ideal and could not be practised even by the highest among men.

"SIGN OF BARBARITY"

The Hon. Dr. Gilder in opposing the resolution stated that population was of course on the increase in India. But it had not grown faster than production. The Minister then read out a passage from a book written by Prof. R. D. Karve on birth-control to show that birth-control devoid of self-control was a sign of barbarity and not civilisation. In India, the average family unit was four point two children. Was it suggested that it should be less by the adoption of birth-control methods? In Travancore and Baroda this average was more but the Province of Bombay as a whole, maintained the average at four.

The House might perhaps know that Napoleon was the eleventh child of his parents (laughter). In countries where birth-control was practised, there was a greater proportion of illegitimate children. In countries, where dictatorship existed, birth-control propaganda was completely forbidden while in other countries, it was under rigid restrictions.

In India, Catholics were against and there were several others who were opposed to it.

The resolution was lost by 49 votes to 10.

SAFEGUARDS FOR NURSES

Mrs. Salima Faiz Tyabji then moved the following resolution:—

In view of the inadequacy of Bombay Nurses and Midwives and Health Visitors Act 1935 to meet the conditions of the city of Bombay this Assembly recommends to the Government to amend the said act at an early date so as to provide firstly for the control of the profession of midwives both trained and untrained by the Municipal Corporation through registration and secondly, for safeguarding the interest of public and of untrained midwives by providing them with rudimentary instructions and simple equipment until such time as all of them are trained.

The Hon. Dr. Gilder Minister of Public Health said that Government had accepted a similar resolution moved by Mrs. Hansa Mehta in the Upper Council that is the Bombay Council.

The House then carried the resolution unanimously and rose for the day to meet again at 8 a.m. to-morrow.

Foreign Buying Hardens New York Cotton Prices

HOLDING MOVEMENT IN SOUTH CONTINUES

Offerings Light And Hedge Selling Small

Bombay, Nov. 11.

The New York cotton was the only principal market to display firmness on Thursday. Foreign buying contributed to the upturn. The holding movement in the South is not broken while textile demand has improved.

NEW YORK MARKET

The New York market opened steady and early became quiet with prices advancing moderately on higher Liverpool cables and trade buying. The session later turned more active with prices advancing further particularly near months on trade, Liverpool and commission houses buying with offerings light and hedge selling very small. Finally trade and foreign buying appeared with the session closing very steady.

At the opening March was quoted 2 points up at 8.46 and declined to 8.45 which was the lowest level. Later on there was improved buying and prices advanced to 8.51 which was the highest level. The market finally closed at a net rise of 8 to 6 points. Spot cotton prices again advanced 12 points at 9.18c. per lb.

NEW ORLEANS MARKET

The New Orleans cotton market was also fairly steady with a moderate demand and closed at a rise of 7 points. Sopt cotton prices were raised 5 points at 8.83c. per lb.

LIVERPOOL MARKET

The Liverpool cotton market opened at unchanged prices with March 4.76. The market was very quiet and narrow. Trade calling absorbed light hedging. Later on light hedging met small straddle buying against New York otherwise business was confined to professionals. The market closed at a rise of 2 points. Middling American spot cotton prices declined 2 points at 5.05d. per lb.

EGYPTIAN COTTON

There was again increased selling and Giza futures closed 9 to 10 points down while Uppers declined 2 points. The Alexandria market was also quiet. Sakels futures closed 9 to 18 points lower and Ashmouni futures closed one point up to one point down.

OVER PRODUCTION OF CLOTH

Messrs. P. Chrystal and Co. state::—As anticipated this week's Bureau Report varied very little from the previous month, Production being 12,137,000 against 12,212,000, Yield per acre 219.7 lbs. against 221.1 lbs. and Ginnings 10,125,000 bales against 6,578,000 bales a month ago. This small decrease resulted in a slight rise in prices, but this we put down more to the comparatively small losses sustained by President Roosevelt's party in the recent Election in U. S. A. On the whole opinion appears to be in favour of the New Deal so that crop control measures for the 1939 American crop seem assured.

In spite of some hedge selling against outside growths in New York trade interests and some speculative buying of the distant deliveries have kept prices steady. Cloth sales in America are reported to be well up to production and Mill takings on the increase. Conditions in Europe however do not show any improvement and the stock in Liverpool continues to press on that market.

Earlier in the month option dealers were prepared to accept very small premiums with the result that they have had to cover their commitments here as prices tended to advance. Further buying on straddle account, especially of July/August found a scarcity of contracts and the resultant narrower parity has brought export enquiry to a halt.

Local Mills are tending to overproduce cloth and with ample stocks of cotton show no inclination to purchase their new crop requirements. Crop progress is favourable and we would recommend sales of Broach if the market advances.

PRIVATE CABLES

New York March highest 8.51+07 (12-16 p.m.)
New York March lowest 8.45+01 (10-3 a.m.)

Messrs. Devkaran Nanjee have received the following telegram from their New York friends:—

Quiet Tone On The Stock Exchange

REALISINGS IN STEEL SHARES WELL ABSORBED

Cotton Textile Issues Quiet And Rapid Movement In Associated Cements

BOMBAY, Nov. 11.

Yesterday the Wall St. Market was quietly steady and with increased realising prices declined, with U. S. Steel closing dol. 1/4 down and Anaconda Coppers lost dol. 1 1/8. Offerings were well absorbed and in view of Armistice Holiday to-day there was not much business.

The local market was also quiet to-day with increased realising but the tone was fairly steady. The general feeling being moderately bullish there was absence of any important selling pressure but professionals were liquidating a portion of their holdings.

Tata Steel Dfds. opened at Rs. 1515 and declined to Rs. 1505 when active buying appeared and prices advanced to Rs. 1535. Later on there was renewed realising and prices declined to Rs. 1502/8 but rallied to about Rs. 1507-8.

There was increased selling in cotton Mill Shares and except Kohinoors all scrips in the textile section weakened.

Associated Cements rumours moved up and down rapidly. They opened at Rs. 111 and rose to Rs. 113. It was rumoured that a dividend of Rs. 5 and bonus of rupee one would be awarded which brought down prices to Rs. 109-8 but better support appeared and prices rallied to Rs. 110-8.

Towards the close the market was dull and business was restricted. After a continuous rise this week to-day's small recession seems nothing but a natural ones and we still look for higher prices in the long run and prefer purchases on dips.

After the close of the market there was a rumour of raising of Steel prices and there were buyers of Tata Steel Dfds. at Rs. 1,520 and Ordinary shares at Rs. 115.

Kemal Rebuilt Turkey Out Of Ruin And Humiliation

C. P. Ramaswamy Aiyer's Tribute To Departed Leader

"Of all the notable figures produced by the war and the interplay of forces that have operated in post-war Europe, Kemal Ataturk, as he finally chose to be called, was by far the most constructive and creative," said Sir C. P. Ramaswami Aiyer in an interview with the Associated Press.

"His superb generalship saved his country from foreign conquest. His unwearied and resourceful diplomacy after many defeats and humiliations succeeded in winning for Turkey a place amongst the nations that counted in Europe and also enabled him to survive both blandishments and threats and prevented Turkey from being merely a tributary and auxiliary power. But it is not by his capacity in warfare or his achievements in diplomacy that he will be remembered by succeeding generals.

He was the one conqueror and dictator in recent history that eschewed aggression and determined to rebuild his State on the basis of consolidation rather than of an extension of territory. The shifting of the capital to Ankara from Istanbul was both a symbol and an announcement of this policy."

Sir C. P. Ramaswami continued: "Whereas many of the makers of modern Europe had a military, political, scientific and cultural background and a great reservoir of finance and man-power to draw from, Kemal, the Ghazi, had to start with and work on nothing. A country still mediaeval in essence on the conclusion of the war in 1918 was, within 20 years, re-modelled politically, socially and religiously, retaining the ancient unconquerable Turkish elan and will-power but transforming them to suit modern conditions.

Kemal was daring and ruthless in his methods and he did not wear kid-gloves but he knew what was needed by and for his race. He was determined to achieve what was needed; and from the reformation of the Turkish alphabet up to the abolition of the Caliphate, the refashioning of the intellectual and social life of the country and the emancipation of the woman-folk of the most conservative land in the Near East, his policies and programmes were dictated by a lofty patriotism which, by a marvellous combination of qualities, was united with a realistic sense of the possible and the expedient."

Sir C. P. Ramaswami concluded: "When his obstacles and handicaps are considered side by side with the sum-total of his achievements, very few can deny him the title of the greatest man in post-war Europe."—A. P.

City Observes Hartal In Memory Of Ataturk

BOMBAY, Friday.

As a mark of respect for the memory of Kemal Ataturk the Muslim localities in Bombay observed a "hartal" on an unprecedented scale to-day.

All the shops and restaurants, of Muslims as well as other communities, on Mahomedali Road, were closed. The whole of Ripon Road, including Madanpura, wore a deserted appearance and shopkeepers, lounging before their shop-fronts, pored over the daily news-sheets blazing forth the death and career of the great man. At Nagdevi Street also shopkeepers were seen deeply engaged in reading the daily newspapers.

Anjuman-i-Islam High School and its branches were all closed. The Municipal schools in the Muslim localities were totally boycotted by Muslim children. At 11 a. m. a large number of Muslim boys at the Fort and Proprietory High School shouted and clamoured from the porch below that the school be closed for the day. The School was accordingly closed. The Bombay Yarn and Silk Merchants' Association was also closed.

The Memon Chamber of Commerce also remained closed. The Chamber passed a resolution expressing its profound grief at the sad and lamentable death of Ataturk Ghazi Mustafa Kemal Pasha, Saviour of Turkey, and offered its deep and heartfelt sympathy to the family of Gazi and the Turkish nation in their sad bereavement. "His untimely death has resulted in an irreparable loss to the Muslim world in general and the Turkish Nation in particular."

A copy of the resolution was cabled to the Premier of Turkey.

Children in Muslim residential quarters were in a holiday mood and were the most boisterous.

SPECIAL PRAYERS

Special prayers in memory of Kemal Ataturk were offered in the Mosques.

Preparations for the 'hartal' were made overnight and in the early hours of this morning by the local Muslim leaders who toured in a car appealing to businessmen to observe "hartal.".

When the news of the death of the great man reached the shopkeepers, it did not require much persuasion on the part of the leaders to make them participate in the general 'hartal"

In almost all the Muslim localities the "hartal" was both spontaneous and spectacular.

Early in the morning near Null Bazar and Nagpada, Duncan Road, Ripon Road junction, an attempt to stop trams and bus traffic was made by a few people. Armed guards soon arrived on the spot, and were subsequently posted at strategic points. Armed Police also were kept on duty.
